'Spy's' Wife

I'll

Too

TORONTO (UPI)—The wife of one of two Canadians arrested as "spies" in Cuba said Friday she wants to fly to Havana to be with her husband.

Mrs. Helene Milne, who had lived in Montreal with her three-year-old daughter, said she would be willing to seek an interview with Premier Fidel Castro to plead for her husband's life.

"If Willie dies, I'll die too," she said.

Castro announced the arrests of William Milne, 34, and Ronald Lippert, 31, of Kitchener, Ont., during a television broadcast earlier this week. He accused the Canadians, and five U.S. citizens, of smuggling explosives into the country.

Milne and Lippert flew to Havana in a plane owned by Continental Enterprises of Aurora, Ont., a firm that had been involved in a business deal to fly relief packages to Cuba.

"My husband loves the Cuban people," she said. "He used to spend about $25 to $30 a week of his own money to provide drugs for Cuban acquaintances who couldn't obtain them there."

Mrs. Milne added: "My husband wouldn't do anything like they've accused him of. Once he refused $500,000 to fly something out of the country." She did not elaborate.

External affairs department officials said they were not opposed to Mrs. Milne flying to Cuba to plead for her husband's life, but they cautioned her not to take premature action.

Meanwhile, the wife of the second man, Mrs. Gloria Lippert, who works at a dry cleaning plant in Kitchener, says she thought something like this might happen. She described her husband as a reckless type, who lived only for flying.

She said she believed her husband had gone through a form of marriage with a Cuban girl, now living in Miami.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space vehicle Friday which it said was capable of performing complicated manoeuvres on command from the earth. A few hours later Premier Khrushchev commented he would look with more warmth on the idea of U.S.-Soviet space co-operation if international tensions eased.

Khrushchev strided up to a microphone at a reception for Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos and reported on the latest orbiting of a space craft, described by the Soviets as containing control mechanisms so that it can be manoeuvred for a linkup in space with another such craft to provide a launching pad for a further shot at another planet or the moon.

"It was with considerable interest that we studied President Kennedy's proposals for a joint project in manned flight to the moon," the premier commented after making his announcement.

"We would have nothing against Russia and America joining in such a project."

Then he grinned and added: "Still better, a Russian man and an American woman."

Khrushchev continued seriously: "If we could agree on a further easing of tensions and not just in moral but in concrete terms, such as disarmament, then this would give greater means — and international means — for the growth of science."

'Quite a Stir' Likely

Volcanos Erupt on Moon

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ. (AP)—The Lowell Observatory announced Thursday three apparent eruptions—possibly volcanic—were observed this week on the surface of the moon. Two seismographers — people who study the moon — working at the observatory saw the reddish-colored disturbances on the usually colorless moon's surface. Dr. John Hall, Lowell director, said the report "will probably create quite a stir in the scientific community."

The apparent eruptions were observed over a period of 20 minutes Tuesday night by James Greenacre and Edward Barr through a 24-inch refracting telescope.

They were Greenacre and Barr say, "all light ruby red in color." Each was approximately two miles in diameter.

SUICIDES END RULE

SAIGON (AP)—Suicides of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Nhu Friday climaxed a bloody military uprising which toppled the regime.

The deposed president and his powerful brother and chief of secret police were reported to have taken their own lives in an armored car carrying them to jail after their arrest by rebel military authorities, a diplomatic source said.

There was no official confirmation of the report. The report did not specify what means Diem and Nhu used to kill themselves.

Only the Vietnamese press was allowed to photograph the bodies.

In Washington, state department officials said they had received a terse dispatch from the U.S. embassy in Saigon quoting Saigon radio as saying: "Diem and Nhu had committed suicide."

PAIR ESCAPES

State department officials said the dispatch said Diem and Nhu escaped after being taken into custody at the presidential palace and fled to a church where they took asylum.

The two brothers were recaptured and subsequently committed suicide, Saigon radio reported.

NEW GOVERNMENT

A new Vietnamese government was installed. The top men, both military and civilian, on the new ruling team are Buddhists and described as devoted to war against Viet Nam's Communist Viet Cong.

AT ODDS WITH U.S.

The Ngo Dinh family had been accused of oppressive measures against Buddhists and was at odds with the United States on this question at the height of the U.S.-supported Vietnamese battles against the Communists.

The end of power came for South Viet Nam's autocratic ruling family after a day and night siege on the stucco presidential palace in the downtown section of this Vietnamese capital, climaxed by a 50-minute dawn attack by tanks and artillery.

HEAVY TOLL

Gen. Duong Van Minh — a Buddhist long at odds with the Roman Catholic Diem — led the violent coup which Americans here said took a heavy toll of Vietnamese lives.

Named as provisional premier was a civilian, former vice-president Nguyen Ngo Tho, who has been leading the government's campaign to conciliate enraged Buddhists.

HURT RELATIONS

Much of the Ngo Dinh family's unpopularity at home and abroad has arisen from its treatment of Vietnamese Buddhists, and this conflict had embittered relations with the United States.

U.S. officials took the view that the coup was engineered by military men primarily interested in stepping up the campaign against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

PERSECUTION

Their first tentative analysis attached less attention to the conflicts with Buddhists, who claimed Diem's regime persecuted them.

The United States put pressure on Diem for reforms to broaden popular support for Uprising 'Shame' For U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu said yesterday that "if the news from the press is true" about a reported military coup in South Viet Nam "it would be a great shame for many Americans."

An aide said Mrs. Nhu, resting here after a cross country speaking tour, had not been told of her husband's death.

"Indeed, we all know that many Americans had waited for this for a long time," she said.

Thursday Mrs. Nhu secretly underwent plastic surgery to remove eye wrinkles. The Santa Monica Evening Outlook said.

Another source said, however, the surgery was to remove a cyst from an eyelid.

The Outlook said the 38-year-old first lady of South Viet Nam entered Beverly Hills Doctors Hospital at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, using the name Mrs. J. Smith.

The paper said Mrs. Nhu, wearing dark glasses, was photographed as she emerged from the hospital at 12:35 a.m. Friday.

Foul Fowl Foils Minds of Men

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP)—A bird has talked himself out of college here.

Hofstra University officials don't like to be cursed at. So the causing myna was heaved off the campus.

Dr. Robert Gossett, assistant professor of psychology, started several months ago to study whether there is any relationship between the ways that human babies and mynas learn the language by mimicking adults.

He taught his myna several words, and things went well for a time.

Suddenly the bird started swearing—and university officials were among the targets. They ordered the bird removed from the campus.

Gossett investigated and found that some night workmen at the university had been tutoring his bird after hours.

The professor has taken the myna home and started a new and tougher experiment—to learn whether a myna can learn profanity.

MONTREAL (CP)—The RCMP searched headquarters of the Seafronters' International Union, the homes of SIU President Hal C. Banks and two other union members in Montreal, and union halls in Ontario Friday in a widespread hunt for union documents.

Meanwhile, whereabouts of the SIU leader was unknown. He was reported to have been in New York Thursday.

DOCUMENTS SOUGHT

Montreal lawyer Jean Martineau, a special prosecutor named by the federal government to determine whether there are grounds for criminal proceedings against the SIU, said warrants were issued empowering the RCMP to search for:

1. Documents bearing on an alleged assault against Capt. Frank Walsh, a rival union organizer, in 1957.

2. Documents bearing on the recent SIU work stoppage that tied up most Great Lakes shipping for several days.

Mr. Martineau said the RCMP earlier uncovered evidence leading them to believe such documents would be found in SIU headquarters in Montreal.

'Billions of Bees' Foamed to Death

WEED, Calif. (AP)—"Billions of bees" were scattered over busy U.S. Highway 99 Friday in a truck collision.

The bees were spilled out of 150 hives shattered in the wreck.

Weed firemen doused the bees with chemical foam. Then the bees and smashed hives were swept up with power shovels, loaded into trucks and hauled to a dump.

anti-Communist measures, but denied any connection with the coup.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had called on Diem Friday morning.

The insurgents were believed fully in control of the city and airport.

(Telephone reports reaching Tokyo from Saigon said rebel forces, whose numbers could not be estimated immediately, attacked the palace Friday night and found a fierce battle with Diem's palace guards and 2,000-man special forces.

REBELS HELD OFF

(The rebels then held off for about five hours, apparently to give Diem a chance to give up, an American reported.

(When Diem demurred, the informant said, the insurgents regrouped and mounted a final, all-out assault, starting with an artillery and mortar barrage against Diem's palace in downtown Saigon.)

COUNCIL OF GENERALS

Although Nguyen Ngoc Tho, a Buddhist, had been named premier, the government actually was being run by a council of generals who led the revolt, an American spokesman said.

He did not identify the generals, but they apparently were the group of nine to 12 general officers headed by Doung Van Minh.

BUDDHIST FAITH

The new premier was the ranking official of the Buddhist faith in the government of Diem.

He had also served as secretary of state for economic development while holding the vice-presidency.

Vietnamese marines spearheaded the uprising, and were joined by army and air force units; the navy—relatively weak—remained loyal to Diem, it was reported.

SAIGON AREA

Fighting was apparently limited to the Saigon area, the rebels having apparently won adherence of local field commanders throughout the country.

Martial law was declared and a curfew imposed, but it was still possible to move about the city.

FRENCH-TRAINED

General Minh, 47, made his reputation in 1955 when he helped Diem clean up the Saigon crime lords. A corpulent man (his nickname is Fat Boy), Minh was French-trained and considered one of the country's top soldiers. He is a Buddhist.

Diem was not sure of his loyalty and consequently Minh has had no troops under his direct command lately.

The revolt against the Ngo Dinh, a leading Roman Catholic family, broke out on All Saints' Day and ended Friday.

The rebel-held radio said pledges of support were pouring in on the leaders of the military coup.

MORE STEAM

The Communists said the U.S. aim was to put more steam into the anti-Communist fighting.

"This coup," the radio said, "shows that its leaders are against Ngo Dinh Diem and at the same time against communism and are following the line indicated by the United States."

Informants said the heaviest fighting had taken place about one mile from Diem's palace, in the heart of Saigon. But the palace had been reported under fire from artillery and tanks.

The sources said six T-28 fighter planes of the Vietnamese Air Force were seen firing rockets.

City Result Kept Secret

Barbers Vote on Day

A Victoria barbers' union spokesman has denied barbers' union has voted in favor of optional closing for the trade.

Mr. Principe, who operates a 10-chair shop in the Mayfair shopping centre, faces a charge Tuesday for opening Wednesday in defiance of the city's bylaw. The union laid the complaint, he said, after he remained open Wednesday as other centre stores do.

VOTE CLAIMED

He also told the Colonist a meeting of union barbers voted 51 to 1 for optional closing after defeating a motion for Monday closing.

Union secretary Walter Singer admitted there was a meeting and a decision was made but said the result was not the same claimed by barber Principe.

He said the matter was in the hands of a lawyer and no statement could be made because of this.

LEGAL ADVICE

Mr. Principe says the union now is free to negotiate with city council and the barbers are seeking legal advice.

Mr. Principe felt that, if he closed Wednesday when the centre was crowded, and opened Monday when it was not, he would be running an unprofitable business.

The situation is said to be similar to 1954, when Mr. Principe wanted to keep his Vapourer financial section shop open Wednesday when businessmen were working and to close Saturdays when they were not. The bylaw then called for Wednesday closing.

CHOSE MONDAY

Finally in 1959, Woodward's Oakridge opened and chose Monday as a closing day. His son Ronald had opened a barbershop there.

Then with city council threatening to throw out the bylaw, the union agreed to Mr. Principe's suggestion for a five-day week with optional closing. This was accepted by council and became law.

and in homes of some union members.

He said documents seized in the searches will have to be studied "before we know all the steps that have to be taken next."

RAID OFFICES

In the biggest single search, some 20 Mounties under Inspector Alexander Cart spent most of the day in the SIU headquarters in Montreal's financial district.

The Mounties, some in uniform, some in plain clothes, arrived at the building at 8:30 a.m. in five cars and a station wagon.

SEARCH HOMES

Meanwhile, other RCMP contingents carried out searches at the homes of Mr. Banks and two other union members. Jack Richardson and Paul Karsh, neither of whom held executive positions, and at union halls in Toronto and Thorold, Ont.

About 40 SIU members were in a ground-floor cafeteria at union headquarters when the RCMP arrived and the number grew as the day wore on.

REPORTERS KEPT OUT

They made no attempt to interfere with the police search but kept reporters out of the building. One of them shouted: "It's enough to have these... police in here without you... newspaper men."

Meanwhile, some confusion surrounded a statement by Justice Minister Chevrier in the House of Commons Thursday that a charge of conspiring to commit a criminal assault had been laid against Mr. Banks.

CASE NOT COMPLETE

Mr. Martineau said subsequently that Mr. Chevrier had not said a charge had been laid. The Montreal lawyer said no charge had been laid because "the case is not yet complete."

Questioned during a visit to Montreal Friday, Mr. Chevrier said again a charge had been laid and it was "factually incorrect" to say that no charge had been laid.

Mr. Chevrier said charges have been laid not only against Mr. Banks but against two other men, believed to be Montreal residents. He did not identify them.

LAI IN MONTREAL

"There is a charge laid in Montreal," he said.

Informed of this, Mr. Martineau said: "If the minister said a charge has been laid, it must be correct."

But "so far all we have done in Montreal is take out search warrants."

AT SIU headquarters the RCMP took out several cardboard boxes and envelopes and placed them in their cars.

Inspector Cart declined to say what was in them.

Mr. Martineau said the RCMP were searching for evidence of conspiracy in connection with the seamen's rights committee and the march on Ottawa.

Varied Methods of Treating Annoying Arm Numbness

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD
Dear Dr. Molner: When I am in bed at night, my arms become numb from elbows to fingers. This has been happening on and off for some years now. — H.J.W.

Numbness, as well as tingling, can be annoying, and it has a habit, often of developing in the late hours of sleep, away from four a.m. onward. I know people who are awakened by it — and then stay up because the discomfort ceases. It's a matter of trading sleep for comfort, and that's a hard choice to make.

SIMPLE, COMPLEX

Sometimes the problem can be solved simply; other times it requires quite a bit of trial and error, and in still other instances special appliances, and even surgery, may be required. The real source of the trouble can be (and usually is) distant from the forearm or fingers. Rather, the numbness generally stems from pressure in the nerve of the arm, but the pressure is exerted farther up, in the neck, or shoulder, or spine.

As we get older, bones of the spine may suffer from osteoarthritis, changes which thicken the edges of their ends. This leaves less space for the nerves emerging from the spinal column.

WHAT TO DO

What to do? Try using a bigger or smaller pillow, or try to find out what particular sleeping positions cause the trouble. Sleeping on one side or the other can be the answer. Sleeping on the back may make the condition less noticeable.

Perhaps you sleep with arms up, or else curled under you. In such instances pressure on certain arteries in the shoulder girdle can cause numbness. There is a muscle, from neck bones to collar bone, which can compress an artery. In some cases, slitting this muscle has brought relief.

RIS PRESSURE

An extra or cervical rib can exert pressure on a nerve when you are in prone position, and such a bone may have to be removed.

More frequently, however, a head halter can be used to relieve pressure. If it is the result of changes in the bones of the spine, at times the halter may be necessary in bed, other times it can be used during the day. The point is, there are things to do about this annoying numbness.

Ottawa Opens Its Loan Fund For Municipal Winter Works

OTTAWA (CP)—The government opened its doors Friday to a $400,000,000 fund for loans to municipalities. The object is to channel the money into municipal works that otherwise would not be carried but this winter, and thus provide jobs.

Finance Minister Gordon told the Commons that the cabinet has established an interest rate of 5 1/2 per cent on the loans for the last quarter of 1963. The rate will be reviewed every three months.

South Africa

Trio Hanged Under New Law

PRETORIA (Reuters)—Three Africans were hanged yesterday—the first executions for sabotage under newly-amended South African law.

Lennox Madikane, Vemle Felix Jaxa and Mxoloni Dlamane were hanged after being sentenced to death last May for crimes committed during riots in Paarl, Cape Province, a year ago.

SEVEN KILLED

Rioting broke out in Paarl last Nov. 22.

Seven persons—five Africans and two whites—were killed when scores of Africans, reported to be members of the Poqo terrorist underground movement of the banned Pan-Africanist Congress, swept through the town with pangas and other weapons.

NOT GUILTY

Sixteen of 21 Africans arrested were found guilty of sabotage while five were found not guilty.

Apart from the three death sentences, five Africans were jailed 18 years and eight others for 12 years.

The General Law Amendment Act, passed by Parliament last year, provided death as the maximum penalty for sabotage.

Coliseum Toll Now 64

Experts Probe Debris For Cause of Blast

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Across from a make shift morgue of ice, some experts scratched an on a pile of broken concrete Friday night, seeking the cause of a liquified gas explosion which killed 64 persons. The 64th died last night.

A flaming geyser of death erupted in the state fairgrounds coliseum Thursday night only minutes before the scheduled final curtain of a gay Halloween Holiday—on—ice show watched by more than 4,000.

The blast spewed bodies, debris and blood—splashed mink coats onto the rink and carved a gaping cavity in the coliseum's choice box seats. Hospital counts showed 365 injured.

None of the eight Canadian performers in the Holiday-on-ice skating group was injured. They included Ted Deeley, Vancouver.

Bodies were stretched on slabs on the rink Friday as a towering crane gingerly picked at the rubble, unearthing what officials hoped would be a key to the tragedy.

Fire Chief Arnold Phillips said fumes, leaking from a cooking petroleum gas cylinder in a concession centre beneath the box seats, apparently ignited, unleashing the upheaval.

"All indications point to a tank valve knocked off," said Ira Anderson, state fire marshal. "However, we don't have enough information to make a flat statement on that."

Damage in the 24-year-old coliseum was estimated at $1,000,000.

Jack Ladue, 35, Plattsburgh, N.Y., one of the show's stars, said the performance had begun 12 or 15 minutes late.

Had it started on schedule, many of the victims caught in the fury of the explosion would have been moving out of the building when the blast occurred.

A policeman hit me on the head with a night stick," said Sallie Mae Durham, who has been in the county jail since her arrest Aug. 8 in a street march protesting segregation.

LEG IN CAST—James Williams, 28, appearing on the witness stand with his left leg in a cast, said a state patrolman clubbed him with what looked like a baseball bat the night of Aug. 9. He said he was beaten and kicked by city and state officers although he had no part in a march that night.

Milton Wilkerson, 20, who said he was in the Aug. 9 march, charged he was struck and beaten by policemen.

The Negroes were called as witnesses by lawyers seeking an injunction to prohibit state county and city officials from prosecution of charges against five integration leaders who have been in jail—four without bail—under insurrection charges since last August.

Juvenile court Judge James W. Smith testified he understood Miss Durham had attacked a police officer and "I'm going to keep her in jail as long as I want to."

SAID ABOUT 75—Smith said between 100 and 125 Negroes under 17 had been placed under his jurisdiction as a result of the demonstration. The judge said about 75 had been placed on probation.

Judge Smith was asked whether he would permit bail for Sallie Mae Durham.

"I'm going to keep her there until we have a hearing," he said.

Elsa Maxwell:

'I'll Keep Her in Jail As Long As I Want' 'I Die Happy!'

NEW YORK (AP)—Elsa Maxwell, a friend of the great and near great, and full time hostess to the glittering cream of international society, died Friday of a heart ailment. She was 80.

She dedicated her own epitaph some years ago when she said in an interview: "If I knew I were to die tomorrow, I'd want my epitaph to be, 'I die happy.' For I was born gay, and my life has been glorious, transcendently magical, full of glamor."

Born in an Iowa opera house while her mother was watching a performance, Miss Maxwell had nothing to recommend her for the role to which she was destined—neither riches, nor looks, nor figure, nor social rank. But she overcame her shortcomings to mingle with most of the history-making world figures of her lifetime.

"Do good and have fun," was her credo. Her enemies questioned how well she fulfilled the first part of her formula.

A Staggering Load

BECAUSE the majority of the companies making automobiles in Canada are wholly-owned subsidiaries of United States corporations, it is difficult to estimate accurately the amount of money that goes out of the country to keep Canadians supplied with automobiles.

General Motors, Chrysler Corporation, American Motors, and Studebaker do not show their Canadian earnings separately because their Canadian subsidiaries have no private shareholders.

Ford of Canada, the second largest Canadian manufacturer, is the exception. It is a separate Canadian company, incorporated in Canada, and although its Canadian ownership has recently declined to 25 per cent it continues to produce accounts and statements which are not consolidated with those of the U.S. associate.

Ford of Canada's report shows that sales in 1962 were $655,127,000 and its net earnings were $65,789,000.

Of the $12,000,000 it paid in dividends that year over $9,000,000 went to the parent company in Detroit.

To this total must also be added the larger sum which Ford of Canada took out of the country to pay for imported cars and parts from its U.S. affiliate.

It is much more difficult to establish the figures of the other automobile companies whose figures are consolidated into those of their U.S. parent, but based on the Ford level it is unquestionable that the outflow of dollars resulting from the Canadian car manufacturers' operations must reach a staggering figure.

A recent estimate is that the profits made in Canada by the five main U.S. car manufacturers was over $125,000,000 in 1962, with possibly $45,000,000 of that sum being paid out in dividends to the American parent companies.

But this dividend payout is small compared with the $314,000,000 which the Canadian companies paid for imported cars and parts in 1962.

Industry Minister C. M. Drury, realizing the automobile industry is a main cause of Canada's trade imbalance with the U.S., is attempting to induce car manufacturers to increase the Canadian content of their product.

To do this he proposes to let car makers import parts to Canada free of duty if they can match the imports with new exports of parts or completed cars to the U.S.

The difficulty facing the minister is that the companies which make parts for cars in Canada are generally independent, so that a third party outside of the U.S. manufacturer and its Canadian subsidiary is involved. The automobile companies have been inclined to pooh-pooh Mr. Drury's scheme as impracticable, but the government may yet show them that there's no such word in the industrial vocabulary.

At the same time it must be remembered that the Canadian automobile industry has been built on U.S. know-how, and that the U.S. owners are entitled to expect a fair return on their investment. In addition they have proved good employers of labor, and have met their obligations to the community.

Yet Mr. Drury clearly has strong arguments to back his proposal that the Canadian automobile industry should be much more self-supporting than it is at present.

As it stands the car manufacturers are taking more out of the country than the country can afford.

AS HAS BEEN noted frequently in recent weeks Canadian members of Parliament with their annual pay cheques of $18,000, generous tax exemptions and many other perquisites peculiar to their job of representing their fellow countrymen in the House of Commons are now the highest paid legislators in the world.

This being so, the visiting Martian could logically assume that Canada therefore must be the best legislated country in the world. However, a quick look at the Ottawa situation and a few words with the average earthling inhabiting this part of the globe would quickly disillusion him.

Even a cursory examination on his part would reveal that even the inducement of double-pay has failed to persuade many of our law-makers that during a session the most important place for them to be on is the bench in the House, rather than attending private or even constituency business elsewhere.

Being a logical and fair-minded being (as all Martians are) he would quickly observe that members of Parliament are allowed considerable time when the House is not sitting to attend to their own homey matters—far more time, indeed, he might note, than the average working man can find for such affairs.

The scores, at times hundreds, of empty seats in the council chamber of the nation might well puzzle him as much as it does the average Canadian earthling voter. He might even be horrified that at one important vote this week only 168 members registered an aye or a nay—the remaining 97 being either absent from the House or too disinterested to voice an opinion.

He might even have witnessed the sad affair of October 29 when, as the fate of the government hung in balance on two non-confidence motions and all partisan forces had sent out their rallying cry, only 240 out of a total of 265 legislators cast their votes on one motion and 237 on the other.

The remaining 25 or 28 members were either not present on the occasion or could not make up their minds how to vote. In either case their constituents were denied a voice in the national affairs of this country.

Certainly if these episodes and others do not wholly persuade our Martian friend to join the Philistines in our midst in proclaiming that far from being the best legislated country in the world it may be the worst, they will at least send him packing back to Mars fully convinced that far too many of Canada's highly paid parliamentary representatives so comfortably ensconced in Ottawa at this time are not demonstrably worth the dollars they are paid.

Hansard Tibbits

Any Others?

MR. RAYMOND LANGLOIS (Megantie): Mr. Speaker, may I put the question to the Minister of Justice in a different way. Does the government intend to stop the racketeers in the sugar business, or does it not?

Mr. Speaker: Are there any more supplementary questions on the question of sugar?

State Department Worried

U.S. Dilemma in Latin America

By GODFREY RODGERS, from Washington

SINCE the two coups d'etat in one month which deposed the constitutionally elected presidents of Honduras and the Dominican Republic, the United States stands by, apparently unable or unwilling to save them, the Kennedy administration faces with stark new urgency the same old dilemma in Latin America.

The country that most worries the U.S. state department now is Venezuela, where there are vast American investments in oil, iron ore and the retail business. Venezuela's president, Romulo Betancourt, is a model in U.S. eyes of the kind of strong but progressive democrat that South America needs for its leaders. His term is due to end on December 1.

If he survives until then, he will be the first president in Venezuelan history to last his term. So far he is coping successfully with a mounting campaign of terrorism from a Left which both he and the Americans regard as closely linked to Cuba.

But the state department is more alarmed by reports, not yet officially confirmed, that the Venezuelan military leaders will not accept Betancourt's successor, Paul Leonis, if, as expected, he wins the election.

The U.S. administration is actively considering the possibility that armed intervention might be necessary to prevent a military coup against Leonis, so disastrous would yet another military take-over be to U.S. hopes for constitutional democracy in South America.

Less acute and more confused, but potentially even more serious, is the situation in Brazil.

President Goulart, who is left of centre, but is distributed here as an opportunist and incompetent, not as an extremist, is visibly floundering. Inflation continues at a crazy rate. There is a threat of labor troubles. And now there is open talk of a move by the army to depose Goulart.

U.S. officials point out that in Brazil, unlike the Spanish-speaking countries, there is a strong tradition of political restraint and constitutionalism in the army. If the army did finally lose patience with Goulart, it would not impose a right-wing autocracy, in Washington's estimate. But the general effect on U.S. policy would be nearly as catastrophic—and this in a country which Americans treat not as a banana republic but as one of the world's future great powers and the key to the whole of South America.

The U.S. administration is afraid that a military coup in either Venezuela or Brazil could lead to a chain reaction that would sweep away most of the few constitutional governments remaining in Latin America from the fall of the dictators in the 1930s. For the administration, this is a far more immediate nightmare.

But this is by no means true of American opinion as a whole. Cuba has left a trauma so deep that the emergence of any further extreme left-wing government, at least in the Caribbean but not farther south, would be a major political disaster for the administration. Powerful interests are also involved. To cite just one of the less-hackneyed examples, Mr. John McCloy, elder statesman of the Republican Party, has just been sent to Brazil as lawyer by the M. A. Hanna Company, founded by a Republican boss and now controlled by Eisenhower's secretary of the treasury, Mr. George Humphrey, to defend its huge iron ore interests in Brazil against the threat of expropriation. And the biggest foreign interest in Venezuela are perhaps those of the Rockefeller brothers, who are deeply involved in Republican politics. That is how remote Latin America is from U.S. politics.

The chairman of the Latin American sub-committee in the Senate has been attacking the Kennedy administration for not intervening to save President Bosch in the Dominican Republic; his opposite number in the House of Representatives is grumbling that the administration is too soft on Leftists like Bosch—actually no Leftist, but a rather weak Social Democrat.

There are few doubts that the United States would have to intervene to prevent a Communist or fellow-travelling regime from taking over, at least in a Caribbean country. But what about intervention against military coups? That is one dilemma.

Another goes deeper. The very forces on which the United States will have to count if there is to be reform in Latin America on the pattern of the Alliance for Progress, are those which are traditionally nationalist and anti-U.S. Therefore those most likely to irritate U.S. public opinion and expropriate U.S. investments.

Officials insist that you cannot not equate military take-over in Latin America with Fascism; many of the democratic rulers now deposed or threatened by coups, themselves owed their power to military coups against dictators.

But a Latin American expert here who no longer has direct responsibility for policy insists that the real danger of the current series of coups is long-term. "If you have military coups you may not get much worse government, leaving aside the moral issues for the moment. But you risk persuading the entire middle-class on whom we have pinned our hopes, that there is no solution without tearing things up by the roots."

That is why Washington worries about Latin America more perhaps than Europe worries about Africa. "Africa's problems are so much easier," said one official here, who knows both from experience.

Sit-Down Twist

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonial Ottawa Bureau

BEST thumb-nailing yet of waterfront tough guy Harold Chamberlain Banks probably is Conservative Whip and Grey Bruce MP Eric Winkler's acid one-sentence description: "Straight out of the cast of an old-time Edward G. Robinson gangster movie."

And the nearest 13-word nutshell of state secretary, House leader and Parliament Hill wheeler dealer Jack Pickersill unquestionably is Conservative Leader Diefenbaker's wickedly accurate punch-line: "The only man in the Commons who can do the twist sitting down."

Senator Allister Grosart simply can't break old habits.

The first of the political recruits from "Advertising Alley" and the pioneer on Parliament Hill in the fine public relations art of "packaging" election candidates, he scribbles what he calls "campaign jazz" when doodling to kill time in the sleepy Senate.

Grosart was so sensationally successful as the publicity wizard who, as the Mad Avenue trade likes to phrase it, "wrapped and delivered" John Diefenbaker in the 1957 campaign that won the Conservatives those still breathlessly remembered 208 seats, that all the parties now have public relations "packagers."

So when Senator Allister Grosart sets his hand to doodling, the product, naturally, makes the Parliament Hill rounds rather than the wastebasket.

Some of his samples, whipped up in all likelihood while dreaming of the campaign trail:

... Tough, strong, man up to you.

John George Dief's man for you.

Or try this:

... Double your pleasure, double your fun.

Why not cast two votes instead of just one?

Or maybe this:

... You'll wonder where the Secretary went

And hope the Creditists, too, get sent.

Or this:

... Tory, the vote that refreshes.

Now it's Grit, for those who vote young...

And, finally, this:

... Aren't you glad you vote Liberal?

Don't you wish all New Democrats did?

Almost everybody knows that the federal government's Man-of-the-Hot-Spot these recent hectic days, Labor Minister Alan MacEachen, is the son of a Cape Breton coal miner, an economist, sociologist, confidante of Prime Minister Pearson, a powerful member of what's known as the "Inner Cabinet," and a very cool customer indeed under what has been some pretty brutally unrelenting pressure.

"Trained for the job," his innumerable friends and admirers say when they want to underline just how high his marks of esteem really are.

But almost nobody seems to know or remember that Alan MacEachen picked up some of that steady nerve-under-fire as a general assignment reporter, or "Fire Horse," as they once called him on the news room floor at The Ottawa Journal.

It was 19 years ago when the then 23-year-old reporter did a tour of duty picking up money to pay his way through St. Francis Xavier University.

He covered fires, police and city council in a soft touch then in the years before Mayor Charlotte Whitton started packing a gun—yes, that's right, packing a gun—around city hall and political speeches.

For this, reporter-in-training Alan MacEachen drew a then quite financially respectable $29.50 weekly.

Since then, things, of course, have changed somewhat for him. He went to Toronto University, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the University of Chicago, federal politics, and last April, the new Liberal cabinet as the much better paid (at an annual $37,000) minister of labor.

But Alan MacEachen never regretted the "good hard months" as he remembers them "under the City Desk gun."

Officials insist that you cannot not equate military take-over in Latin America with Fascism; many of the democratic rulers now deposed or threatened by coups, themselves owed their power to military coups against dictators.

But a Latin American expert here who no longer has direct responsibility for policy insists that the real danger of the current series of coups is long-term. "If you have military coups you may not get much worse government, leaving aside the moral issues for the moment. But you risk persuading the entire middle-class on whom we have pinned our hopes, that there is no solution without tearing things up by the roots."

Stormy Decency Bill

By R. B. LOCK, from Wellington

NEW Zealanders, widely reputed to be in closer sympathy with Britain and her way of life than any other nation in the Commonwealth, have taken action to protect moral standards which their minister of justice, Mr. J. R. L. Hare, has determined in England through inadequate law.

Now the country awaits the appointment of a tribunal of five people who will, from January 1, next, rule on the indecency of books and sound recordings.

This tribunal may classify books as restricted to specified classes of readers, and may prohibit the publication of its decisions in any newspaper, except the government's weekly Gazette.

New Zealanders are among the most voracious readers in the world, and before the Indecent Publications Bill was passed by a free vote on the House of Representatives, it had aroused the fiercest political storm of the year. A general election is scheduled for November 30.

Opponents of the bill include church spokesmen, writers, lawyers, booksellers, publishers and newspapers. There was little fuss over the need for the bill in general, or over the extent to which books may be harmful. The loudest complaints came over the clause allowing the tribunal to restrict reference to its proceedings or its decisions. They saw a vital right at stake.

Mr. Hare and his conservative national government replied that this was a key clause, inserted in the bill to prevent unnecessary advertising of banned or almost banned, book titles. In any case, said Mr. Hare, the bill ensured that no order against publication could be made on zette.

Reluctant, But

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN, from Jerusalem

IT is pleasant to say the least, their frontier and to knock out the cause of major warfare in Jordan.

Israel is not a militaristic country. Army disciplines war and a heavy military budget are alien to her real purpose. But the joy that comes from all this is limited and still tentative.

Modern techniques of peace-making, whether by the United Nations, by mediation, by Great Power threats, or by the withdrawal from sinners of essential aid, have done little to cure the causes of war. There are still hosts of men engaged in unrecognized war. And the new techniques at best seem able to do hardly more than restrain, deflect, postpone or disguise the essential, still-living causes of war.

These stars of extreme tension exist wherever nations grind like leeches against one another. Korea against Korea, over the length and breadth of Southeast Asia, on the Indian sub-continent. They exist internally in the New World, in Eastern Europe, in a primitive form in Africa and, of course, in the Middle East.

We have to accept the woeful state of opinion between Arabs and Israelis as a fact of international life that touches and distorts the aspirations of nations as far away as West Africa and Delhi. People in what was Palestine live in a perpetual state of menacing and being menacing. The United Nations maintains still a perpetual watch on frontiers there which were the fruit of a grudging and uneasy truce. And the Arab states are still, in theory, committed to the eradication of Israel.

There are plenty of ready-made causes there, all continually on the point of boiling. There are firings and kidnappings by the Syrians round the Sea of Galilee; there have been dangerous exchanges between Jordan and Israel over the walls of the old city of Jerusalem; there is a continual attempt to infiltrate across the borders of the Gaza strip. The whole, long, convoluted, illogical frontier of Israel is a line of danger. The whole situation there, with no exchange of reason of any sort, stops each day only just short of war.

And now the Israeli decision to pump water from the Jordan could be another and more fruitful cause. The Arabs have long since refused to co-operate in this. The Israelis have moved their site for the taking of the water, which will irrigate the central and southern parts of their country, as far as possible from the point of offence. The Arabs continue to insist that any such taking of "their" water will be regarded as an act of aggression.

So long as the Arabs are disunited, preoccupied with their ideological disputes and internal difficulties, the situation appears tolerable to Israel. But if ever the Arabs are genuinely united, under a joint and effective military command, surrounding Israel with a common and genuine intention to destroy her, then the situation becomes appalling. It is impossible to predict what would be the outcome of another real war here. The Israelis believe they would have to survive for a fortnight on their own before help could come from overseas. They have no absolute guarantee of help. The Arabs would attempt a blitz push, easy on paper in a country which in one place is hardly 10 miles wide. This is why the Israelis might well strike first in an effort to forestall. And it would present to the world and to her friends a situation as dangerous as any since the black days of Korea.

There is dreadful logic in the Israeli position. This idea of forestalling is not, of course, the official policy of the government, which is to avoid all avoidable provocation. But that it is a real possibility—as real as the possibility of Arab unity—few serious Israelis would deny.

Today In History

By The Canadian Press

Pittsburgh radio station KDKA opened a new era in communications 43 years ago today—in 1920—when it broadcast returns of the Harding-Cox U.S. presidential election. The event was an experiment and was carried out several days after KDKA was granted the first radio station licence in the United States.

1936—The Canadian government's department of transport was established.

1950—Playwright George Bernard Shaw died at 94.

"We have the right to know what the commission decides, and to argue them if we want to. The spectre of illicit sales to an eagerly awaiting, morally plastic public is an absurdity."

Critics also complain that even dissenting members of the tribunal would be precluded from public discussion of "secret" decisions.

But in Mr. Hare's view, this bill represented a great liberalisation of the law. He argued that appeals taken to the Supreme Court would, like the sittings of the tribunal itself, be open to the press and public. No ban could be placed on publishing Supreme Court decisions.

The bill went through unaltered. Yet, to the last, the government was eager to hear any proposals that would calm the storm without destroying the elements in the bill to which it was committed.

In the end, most authorities agreed that it would at least be an improvement on the present book-banning system.

A group of critics, with outside literary advice if sought, at present decides what imported books shall be banned. The public hears little of their proscriptions.

Public attention is now on the question of who will be appointed to the tribunal by the minister of justice when the law comes into force in January.

Its chairman will be a lawyer. At least two of the other four members must have special qualifications in literature or education. One is likely to be a woman. They will rotate in rotation after not more than two terms of five years, and, to acknowledge changes in public taste, books may be reconsidered after three years.

Poor White Real Race Victim

VANCOUVER (CP)—A recognized spokesman for the U.S. Negro said Thursday that the real victim of the current racial troubles in the U.S. is the white man.

James Baldwin, best-selling author, addressed more than 2,000 UBC students who jammed the campus auditorium. Hundreds were turned away despite an admission charge.

Mr. Baldwin, who was among the leaders of the recent march on Washington, was given an honorary doctor of literature degree at the UBC convocation yesterday.

In his address and in replies to questions, he referred to the problems of the whites in the racial strife, saying:

"In the unbelievable, medieval, Third Reich horror of the southern states today, the real victim is the 'poor white' who does these horrible things and who doesn't know why.

"One of the most appalling faces in the whole world—and do mean the whole world—is that of the poor white woman in the U.S. South. She's lonely, she's frustrated, she's bitter and she's ignorant.

"The poor whites have been brought up on myths about the Negroes and they believe them and they react violently because they don't know what else to do. It's terribly sad that people should do this to themselves."

Mr. Baldwin told a student questioner that Christianity has a bad record in dealing with the colored problem. It had sidestepped the issue, he said, amid applause.

... terribly sad

"How can we say there's any real Christian morality in a country which can see three little girls bombed to death in Sunday school and then do nothing about it?" he asked. "There's no such thing as a real Christian moral law in the U.S. Our so-called Christianity is largely a matter of hypocritical pretensions."

He did not consider the Black Muslim the answer to the race problem. The Black Muslim was only saying in reverse what the white man has said for generations: "We are better because we're black."

"It is barely conceivable that the next generation—you young people—may find a way out of this dilemma," he said. "But first we must establish a dialogue—to talk with and understand one another as friends and brothers."

Misfit Toughest Social Problem

VANCOUVER (CP)—The toughest social problem of the future is going to be handling people who are too dull, lazy or uninspired to fit into the modern world, physics scientist Dr. Malcolm H. Hebb said Friday.

Speaking at the fall convocation of UBC, he told 700 graduating students it was no solution simply to provide support through welfare for such people "if only for the reason that the number to be supported will grow faster than the population and saddle the productive people with an intolerable burden."

Dr. Hebb, a UBC graduate who now heads General Electric's general physics laboratory at Schenectady, N.Y., was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Science during the ceremonies.

James Baldwin, U.S. Negro author, was given an honorary Doctor of Literature degree. Dr. Hebb said the problem of the misfit is not being faced wide basis, and every avenue must be explored to find an acceptable solution.

Mr. Baldwin, in accepting his honorary degree, said: "I accept this degree for my grandfather and grandmother and my nieces and my nephews and their children in the hope and prayer that the world we may create in the future will be less of a nightmare for us and our children and less dangerous for us."

"That one day we all will have learned to live together not only in peace but to realize that the either in Canada or on a world-human being takes precedence over everything else."

University President John B. Macdonald, in introducing Mr. Baldwin, said he was a man who "proclaims a concept of human liberty that lies at the core of education."

"As an American, he cries aloud with agonized intensity his analysis of his country's dilemma, wherein dreams conceal reality, liberty is enchain by slavery, and two races are still at war, yet ever wedded to form one nation."

Subsidiaries of U.S. Firms

Less Capital for Canada

WASHINGTON (CP)—Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. companies have shown increases in sales and profits but they plan to reduce capital outlays for 1964 following a two-year rise, the U.S. commerce department says in a survey of U.S. industry's foreign operations.

Capital outlays in Canada are estimated to decline to $1,022,000,000 in 1964 from $1,181,000,000 in 1963 and $1,151,000,000 in 1962. Direct investment in all major production, from petroleum to smelting, is estimated to decline next year. In contrast, total sales by these Canadian branches and subsidiaries rose to $19,220,000,000 in 1962, an increase of about $1,380,000,000 over 1961, "reflecting a broad expansion of the Canadian economy," the department said.

The over-all ratio of profit to sales for all foreign operations also rose to 5.44 per cent in 1962 from 5.28 in 1961 and the department noted that this improvement "was primarily in Canadian operations." In Europe, the ratio dropped sharply to 4.43 per cent from 5.75.

Of the total 1962 sales by these U.S. controlled companies in Canada, sales of manufactured goods increased to $9,610,000,000 from $8,920,000,000 in 1961. These companies sold $8,005,000,000 of these manufactured goods to Canadian consumers in 1962, exporting only $1,080,000,000 to the U.S. and $435,000,000 to other countries.

While exports to the U.S. from these Canadian plants represented only a fraction of total sales, the department reported that little comes into the U.S. from other American operations abroad. Of the 1962 total sales of $28,100,000,000 by the over-all foreign operations, only about $1,400,000,000 represented exports to the U.S.

"Most of the sales to the U.S. originate in Canada and consist primarily of such traditional items as food products, paper and other wood products, chemicals and metals."

Selecting some major industries, the department concluded that in Canada these U.S.-controlled firms are relying less on U.S. and more on Canadian domestic sources for their investment funds.

For example, total investment by mining, petroleum and manufacturing companies increased to $2,040,000,000 in 1962 from $1,832,000,000 in 1961. Of this total, the amount coming from the U.S. dropped to $164,000,000 in 1962 from $235,000,000 in 1961.

In touching on the 1964 investment forecast, the department estimated that projected investment by these Canadian operations in petroleum products would decline to $315,000,000 from $350,000,000 in 1963 and in mining and smelting to $115,000,000 from $155,000,000.

Immunity Used to Beat Bill

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton says the French Embassy used its diplomatic immunity to escape paying a $1,700 additional cost of installing a connecting sewer.

She said that when the city decided to connect the embassy's sewer system to the city's main trunk sewer, French Ambassador Raymond Bousquet objected to mechanical and blasting methods being used.

advised that there would be an additional charge for installing the sewer by hand methods. He didn't see why the government should pay.

Mayor Whitton said that of all the embassies in Ottawa, only the French embassy claims such immunity. She also said that the French embassy used blasting and mechanical methods recently in erecting a $250,000 addition to the embassy.

In Commons

Sugar Debate Due

OTTAWA (CP) — A special Commons debate on sugar prices was sought yesterday by the New Democrats.

But Speaker Alan Macnaughton disallowed the motion by Robert Prittle (NDP—Burnaby-Richmond) to shelve all other Commons business for the debate.

Mr. Macnaughton said MPs will have a chance to debate the sugar question Monday.

Mr. Prittle said the price of sugar has changed 90 times since Jan. 1.

But the government, in response to questions in the Commons, had said in effect it could do nothing about it.

The NDP member said other governments have done something. And the people of the country—especially housewives—expected the government to act on a matter that the people couldn't cope with.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker suggested that the House agriculture committee study Mr. Diefenbaker said the price has risen beyond "anything that can be excused, and this government has done nothing."

(At various times, Prime Minister Pearson, Justice Minister Chevrier and other ministers have told the House that studies by combines investigation officers have indicated that price rises in Canada are due to an international shortage.)

(They have added that the government cannot dictate sugar prices since there is no price control in Canada.)

Manitoba Liberal Leader:

Pensioners Being Robbed

WINNIPEG (CP) — Protest has sprung up following disclosure that some Manitoba pensioners who get provincial aid did not benefit from a $10 increase in the federal old age pension.

Provincial Liberal leader Gilda Molgat and NDP leader Russell Paulley have been critical. J. B. Carroll, the Progressive Conservative welfare minister, said there has been a complete misunderstanding of the province's social allowance policy.

The $10-a-month increase was included in last month's cheque to pensioners.

Controversy started after it was learned that with the $75 cheque received by 85 residents at the Brandon-operated Fairview senior citizens home was a letter from the local provincial welfare department office saying they would still get $10 for incidental expenses.

Pleased To Plead

OTTAWA (CP) — Welfare Minister LaMarsh said Friday in the Commons he would be more than happy to make an appeal to the provinces not to nullify the $10 old-age pension increase for pensioners in provincially-run old people's homes.

"This $10 was the same amount they got before the increase. They were in the habit of endorsing their cheques over to the home, and home officials have said that all the money goes to the welfare department."

The welfare department then redistributes the money received in this manner back to the homes on the basis of need.

The policy of the Manitoba government with respect to elderly people "is to meet their needs," Mr. Carroll said. "A modest allowance for incidental expenses" is included.

He said the province will continue to operate under a social allowance program which he described as "the best in Canada."

Mr. Molgat accused the provincial government of "robbing" pensioners.

The Liberal leader said "unfortunate people will be penalized while retired millionaires will be getting the full $10 increase."

A special session of the Manitoba legislature should be called to discuss pension policies, he said.

Mr. Paulley challenged the government to call a special legislature session immediately. The NDP leader said the provincial government "stands condemned of misusing federal funds."

Viet Nam

Key Men Behind Revolt?

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

TOKYO (AP)—The sudden assault against the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem has the look of a well-planned, well-organized operation supported by key figures of South Viet Nam's military. At least nine top-ranking general officers seem to be involved in the planning and execution of a dramatic coup d'etat.

The results, one way or another, will have a heavy impact on the future of the little nation of 14,500,000 and on its war against the Viet Cong Communists.

Reliable sources say marine and army generals behind the attack included Duong Van Minh, Tran Van Don, Nguyen Ngoc Te, Tran Van Minh, Le Van Ty, Ton That Dinh, Thai Hoang Quang, Nguyen Knub and Mihun Xuyen.

The list, if correct, makes it appear that the organizers of the attack were carefully chosen, each from his own area, as the key men in the military. The planners of this coup, probably aided by officers of the air force, seemed to have decided to make Ngo Dinh Nhu, the president's brother, their chief target.

Although it may not be a matter of public record, Nhu is known to have vowed to turn the heavy guns of the palace guard against Saigon itself in event of a coup attempt.

The strike against Diem was the almost inevitable culmination of events of the last six months.

Military men—concerned with the anti-Communist war they had on their hands—faced a growing morale problem in the ranks and among their officers.

If the coup is successful, the result could help rather than hinder the war effort against the Viet Cong Communists. By some standards, the Diem government was beginning to hamper the war effort by its stubborn attitude toward any breath of opposition.

A MOBILE RADIOTELEPHONE SYSTEM IN A PACKAGE!

Canadian Forest Products logs with 105 B.C. TEL mobile radiotelephones.

The units are within the CFP Englewood Logging Division at the northerly end of Vancouver Island, one of the largest logging operations in the province. Locomotives, passenger-carrying speeders and a dispatch centre are radiotelephone equipped for operation of a winding 90-mile dieselized logging railroad. Heavy equipment including track loaders, reload centres and trucks are radiotelephone equipped. So is the ambulance. And B.C. TEL radio whistles directing mobile spar tree operators ensure woods safety more effectively than other signalling systems.

Even the division forester makes his field trips with a portable radiotelephone!

With B.C. TEL's mobile radiotelephone system, Canadian Forest Products is able to run logging operations smoothly, without costly delays.

Working in conjunction with CFP Englewood operations are a teletype system and telephone company service.

For information on all telecommunication services call our Marketing and Sales Department today. In Vancouver dial 683-5511. Elsewhere in B.C. ask your operator for Zenith 7000 (no charge).

Royal Commission on

THE PRELIMINARY HEARING

will continue for

TWO DAYS instead of ONE

on November 7 and 8, 1963
in Cathedral Hall, 425 Sparks St., Ottawa

In view of the great number of persons who have indicated their intention to participate in the preliminary hearing of the 7th November, the Commission has decided to extend its duration by one day. This preliminary hearing will be devoted to the examination of the terms of reference of the Commission.

Associations and individuals are invited to submit their views on the nature and scope of the frame of reference.

The Commission will outline at this time the procedure it intends to follow at the regularly scheduled public hearings.

Please note — that the preliminary hearing is limited to a discussion of the terms of reference and of procedure. Briefs will not be entertained on the subject matter of bilingualism and biculturalism until the start of the regular hearings.

Persons may participate in the preliminary hearing without submitting a brief. Those who wish to appear must address a letter of intent to the Commission. All communications are to be addressed as follows:

THE SECRETARIES
Royal Commission on Bilingualism
P.O. Box 1508

TERMS OF REFERENCE

... to inquire into and report upon the existing state of bilingualism and biculturalism in Canada and to recommend what steps should be taken to develop the Canadian confederation on the basis of an equal partnership between the two founding races, taking into account the contribution made by the other ethnic groups to the cultural enrichment of Canada and the measures that should be taken to safeguard that contribution; and in particular

1. to report upon the situation and practice of bilingualism within all branches and agencies of the federal administration — including Crown corporations — and in their communications with the public and to make recommendations designed to ensure the bilingual and bicultural character of the federal administration;

2. to report on the role of public and private organizations, including the mass communications media, in promoting bilingualism, better cultural relations and a more widespread appreciation of the bicultural character of our country and of the subsequent contribution made by the other cultures; and to recommend what should be done to improve that role; and

3. having regard to the fact that constitutional jurisdiction over education is vested in the provinces, to discuss with the provincial governments the opportunities available to Canadians to learn the English and French languages and to recommend what could be done to enable Canadians to become bilingual.

Materials Sought For Goodwill Jobs

The first phase of a two-part drive to supply Goodwill Enterprises with enough material to keep the industry going over the slack winter months swings into action in the Oak Bay-Fairfield district this morning.

The drive, sponsored and organized by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, is the third, and biggest, yet held by Goodwill.

PAPER SACKS

About 15,000 large paper sacks will be delivered to homes throughout the Oak Bay-Fairfield area, in the hope that householders will fill them with articles of used clothing, dishes, knick-knacks, pots and pans, or anything else worthy of being repaired, renovated and resold by Goodwill.

Goodwill Enterprises, established in Victoria in 1955, employs about 100 handicapped people, and the number is growing every year.

EXTRA MATERIAL

Purpose of the drive is to supply Goodwill employees with enough material to keep them busy over the winter months, when regular collections are at a premium.

Last year's highly successful drive in the same area kept the Goodwill warehouse stocked well into March, and this year's drive is expected to do the same.

Volunteer workers from the Hi-Y and Y-Teens Clubs of the Victoria YMCA, under the direction of the Jaycees, will handle the drive.

PICK-UP NOV. 9

The full sacks will be picked up on the morning of Nov. 9 and loaded into trucks for storage.

A Goodwill spokesman said last night he is expecting residents of the drive area to respond as generously as they did last year, when Goodwill was given a real "shot in the arm" with tons of re-usable goods.

Ghana Topic

Guest speaker at meeting of United Nations Association in Canada, Victoria Branch, will be Dr. W. G. Jeffery, Dr. Jeffery, geologist with provincial mines department who spent year in Ghana on Canadian aid mission, will speak on impressions of Ghana. Meeting will be Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Cafeteria, Douglas Building. All members and guests are welcome. — (C.A.M.B. Bell Studios.)

Skid Road Kills One More

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frances Chow, 24, a beautiful Indian woman with finely-chiseled features, came here from the prairies.

She married and settled down, but two years later the marriage collapsed. She drifted into Vancouver's skid road among the 500 other Indian women there.

32ND CHARGE

Last Saturday, Frances Chow, now 32, collapsed and died as she went to jail on her 32nd drunk charge.

A coroner's jury ruled she died of natural causes brought on by the excessive use of alcohol and urged quick government action to rehabilitate and properly house Indian women in skid road areas.

GRIM PICTURE

Coroner Glen McDonald capped the picture with his grim dollars-and-cents assessment: Fines had cost the taxpayers, through arrests, convictions and imprisonment $2,543 in six years on the skid road. Multiplied by the 507 other Indian women there, the bill was $1,200,000.

Girl Found Guilty In Bad Cheque Case

Five worthless cheques to a value of more than $200 netted a girl a conviction in city magistrate's court yesterday on charges of false pretenses.

Sharon Anne McKenzie, 660 Admirals, pleaded guilty to the charges, and said the cheques were written on a bank account in her name which was closed some time ago.

Court was told she had bought clothing with the bad cheques. She later sold the clothing in Vancouver.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded the girl to Nov. 8 for probation report and sentence.

The driver of a car which was seen veering back and forth across the centre line on Burnside Road Thursday night was given a 21-day jail sentence after he pleaded guilty in city magistrate's court yesterday to a charge of impaired driving.

Court was told James P. Caton, 398 Kerr, told police he had had about 20 or 25 glasses of beer shortly before he was picked up. He had a previous conviction for impaired driving.

Lynnette Roberts, 18, of 1315 Stanley, female accomplice of a man who pleaded guilty in Oak Bay magistrate's court Monday to passing a forged cheque, was given a one year's

Patients Need Watching

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—A coroner's jury Thursday recommended stricter grounds supervision at the Essondale mental hospital for patients who have shown dangerous tendencies.

The recommendation was attached to a verdict in the case of patient David Vincent Murdoch, 20, who stole a car in the hospital grounds, roared out to the public highway and drove it head-on into a truck. Murdoch died behind the wheel.

LIMITED PRIVILEGES

Psychologist Dr. A. C. Arrowsmith told the jury Murdoch was a potentially dangerous individual who became unstable spontaneously. He was on limited grounds privileges at the time of the incident.

The jury found Murdoch's death accidental, occurring while he was in an unfit mental condition to operate a car.

Juggling Of Taxes Attacked

OTTAWA (CP)—A consulting economist told the royal commission on taxation Friday that the Canadian tax structure should be designed for one overriding purpose—raising revenue—and its use as an economic lever should be kept to a bare minimum.

Dr. J. R. Petrie, author of several books on taxation and a former director of research for the Canadian Tax Foundation, appeared before the commission with the Association of Canadian Distillers, for which he is a consultant.

STABLE STRUCTURE

In general, he said, Canada should have a stable tax structure—not manipulated and juggled to anticipate changing business conditions—and it should aim at producing a budgetary surplus.

He urged abolition of all tax incentives which "have resulted in unwarranted discrimination"; an over-all 10-per-cent cut in personal income tax and a top rate of 40 per cent; a flat 40-per-cent corporation tax, and taxing of credit unions.

MORE SALES TAXES

He said Canada should get more revenue from sales taxes, broadening the base of its 11-per-cent levy to include fuel, electricity, gas, telephone and transportation.

He suggested Ottawa vacate the death duties field.

Harvard Men Deny Orgies

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Harvard students admit sex relations occasionally occur when an undergrad entertains a co-ed in his room, but they denied there have been orgiastic parties among the hallowed halls of Ivy.

Students criticized their own deans and the press for airing the university's sex mores before a national audience. Faculty masters of Harvard residence halls tended to support the students' contention that dormitory behavior was not out of line.

Attention was focused on the sexual climate of the old and respected university because of a dean's letter to the campus newspaper which complained that allowing girls into men's dormitories tends to license "wild parties and sexual intercourse." The university admitted a few incidents but, in the main, the wild parties consisted of isolated heavy drinking bouts.

Harvard, like numerous other eastern schools, allows its men to entertain women in their suites, bedrooms included, at certain specified hours. The practice is longstanding and the duration of the hours was last changed in 1952.

NO CHANGE SEEN

There was no indication that the new public controversy would lead to any immediate revision of house rules. In fact, the November meeting of the faculty of arts and sciences, which would have to vote such changes, has been cancelled.

Rev. John R. Coburn, dean of the Episcopal Theological School here, entered the discussion Friday with a statement that the "breakdown of the family" as a force for moral stability, as well as the availability of bedrooms, was a key factor in affecting student morals.

Erik Sundquist, 21, a Harvard senior from Arlington, Va., scoffed at the idea of a general campus sex scandal.

"By and large," he said, "people handle sex responsibly. I think taking the student body as a whole we believe that premarital sex is all right but we are against promiscuity (leaping from bed to bed without affection for the sex partner)."

Graduate student Leonard Babby, 24, of Brooklyn, N.Y., singled out for special chastisement a report by a Harvard staff psychiatrist which alleged sex relations between students were on the increase and the trend was largely due to the easy availability of bedrooms.

"It seems to be a bit naive to think that Harvard and Radcliffe (a neighboring women's college) people — certainly intelligent people — would be such slaves to a vacant bed," he said.

All the injured were riding in the Stossel vehicle. The name of the other driver has not yet been released.

Who Moved Picture? MPs Asked

OTTAWA (CP)—Who took Robert Thompson's picture off the wall in Real Caouette's office?

This latest diplomatic incident in the cold shoulder war between the Social Credit and Creditist leaders was raised in the Commons Friday by Frank Howard, deadpan New Democratic MP for Skeena.

"It would be very interesting to ascertain if staff of the House were employed to remove the picture," he added amid laughter.

Alberni Income Fifth in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Alberni's average income last year was $4,887, the fifth highest in Canada.

The figures, released by the revenue department, showed the pulp-mill city behind first-place Sarnia, Ont.—$5,087, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Sudbury, Ont., and Ottawa.

Medical doctors were Canada's highest income earners in 1961, with average earnings of $17,006.

There were more big-money earners in 1961 than ever before: 602 Canadians topped $100,000 in the year, compared with 459 in 1960.

The revenue department gave Canadians these glimpses into the financial affairs of their fellow taxpayers today in its annual green book of taxation statistics.

The figures on average incomes covered only persons earning enough to pay income taxes, the federal government's biggest source of revenue.

Altogether, a total 4,507,767 taxpayers in 1961 had average incomes of $4,348 and paid an average tax of $424. This compared with average incomes of $4,232 and average taxes of $406 in 1960.

Firestone INSTALL WINTER TIRES NOW

"There are always one or two wild parties a year but nothing really depraved," he said. Other students defined a wild party as one with plenty of drinking and a tendency for a bottle or two to be hurled out of a dormitory window or down the steps.

The closest thing to a scandal at Harvard happens when the deans say one is brewing and the newspapers print it, Sundquist said.

ISSUE CREATED

David Phillips, 20, of Newton, Mass., a senior majoring in social relations, said inviting girls to men's housing "never was an issue until it was raised (by the deans and the press)."

"I have my fiancée coming to the house regularly and it never occurred to me there was any sort of problem about that," he said.

Robbed Woman Loses Voice

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police Friday night launched a city-wide search for two men who invaded an East End home, beat a 67-year-old woman into unconsciousness and fled with more than $1,000, and three piggybanks containing $10 each.

Mrs. Chew Wood, a housewife who was alone in her home, was taken to hospital for examination of head injuries and a possible broken jaw.

Police said they had yet to learn all the facts of the assault because the woman lost her voice from shock. Police were called by a neighbor who saw her stagger out of the house.

First Clue Found To Kaare

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first concrete clue to the half-but schooner Kaare II has been found, washed up on a beach stretch of the Alaska coast.

RCAF search and rescue officials say two large plastic floats, one bearing the markings of the Kaare II, were found more than 100 miles north of the last reported position of the schooner.

The ship, with six men aboard, was last sighted Oct. 18. Rescue officials believe she went down in one of a series of storms.

Laughing All the Way

By BERT BINNY
Always gay, sparkling and lively, the Peninsula Players production of Vernon Sylva's As Long As They're Happy last night kept a full house at the Sidney Legion Hall laughing from start to finish.

Ken Smith as John Bentley was especially effective, right in character from his first entrance, and never overacting, though the temptation and opportunity were there.

ABOUT EVERYTHING
Margaret Dixon was her usual accomplished self as Patricia and Phyl Lever as the mercurial Gwendoline was suitably vehement about everything she did or said.

Joan Henriksen created a consistently believable Stella Bentley. There was the feeling Joe Fenion, the crying crooner who extracted every ounce of comedy out of the part, was not completely successful in showing his more serious or human side.

Nor did Chuck Swannell get all the meat out of the part of

With special pairs on the back for Pat Montgomery as Linda and Doug Taylor as Peter, there is no hesitation in saying all the players of the smaller parts made sterling contributions to a successful production.

The play was well paced and the movement on a small stage impressively facile. Above all, this was out and out comedy played as just that and will provide a happy, care-free evening for anyone.

Claremont, Victoria Tie Esquimalt Stays 'Alive'

By ROBIN JEFFREY
Esquimalt and Claremont are still alive and kicking in their battle for the last playoff spot in the Colonist Cup high school soccer championship.

A week ago it looked as if another Victoria High-Oak Bay final was certain. But Oak Bay has been on the skids and Esquimalt and Claremont have

	GP	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts
Victoria High	10	4	1	5	28	18	13
Oak Bay	9	3	3	3	15	13	9
Claremont	10	3	2	5	17	19	12
Esquimalt	9	3	3	3	17	17	9
Mount Douglas	9	3	3	1	11	15	7
Mount View	9	1	7	1	8	27	3

Yesterday's scores: Esquimalt 1, Mount Douglas 0; Victoria High 1, Claremont 0. Royal Athletic Park.
Next games: Monday—Esquimalt at Oak Bay; Mount Douglas at Mount View.

been on the move. And that move reached a peak at Royal Athletic Park last night as Esquimalt nipped Mount Douglas 1-0, and Claremont fought to a well-earned 1-1 draw with Vic High.

More than 700 fans, largest crowd of the season, screamed in appreciation.

KEY GAME
Claremont has completed its schedule with 11 points from 10 games. Oak Bay has 11 points and Esquimalt nine, and Dockers tangle with the Bays on Monday. A win for Esquimalt would produce a three-way tie for second place—the last playoff slot. Vic High has already clinched the league title.

A win for Oak Bay, however, gives it the coveted berth.

Esquimalt and Mount Douglas, each with a game left, were tied with seven points in the standings, going into last night's game. Each club had to win to keep in the running for the last playoff spot.

TOUGH GAME

The rough-and-tumble contest was real "cup-tie" soccer. Both clubs played hard, lack lustre soccer which saw frequent fouls and one player, Gordie Strouman of Mount Doug, sent off.

Esquimalt's winner came after 20 minutes of the first half when centre-forward Ken Squires took a short pass in front of the Mount Doug goal.

The Mount Douglas players waited for Squires to be whistled off-side, but referee George Steele waved play on and Squires hit the ball into the unguarded Mount Douglas net.

Neither team seriously threatened after this as both clubs contented themselves with aimless mid-field booting.

After the disappointing Esquimalt-Mount Douglas game,

Vic High and Claremont provided the noisy fans with a real treat.

MISSING CHANCES

But Tyers missed a couple of good chances and Claremont recovered from its initial shyness of the Royal Athletic Park lights.

Play flowed from end to end as Vic High used an attractive short-passing game while Claremont hit long balls to its speedy wingers.

With less than a minute to go in the half, Tyer wing-half Mike Graas drew a man at mid-field and pushed a pass to outside-right Dave Evans. Evans cut inside, and drew a man and shoved the ball down the wing to half-back Don Frampton.

FINE GOAL

Frampton broke to the corner flag and blasted a bullet-like cross into the goalmouth. Inside-forward Oscar Waldal timed it perfectly and nudged the ball into the lower right corner for one of the finest goals of the season.

But any Vic High jubilation lasted only through the half-time interval.

At three minutes of the second half Claremont centre-forward Joe Milligan (son of United's Wally) took the ball about 35 yards from the Vic High goal.

HIGH DRIVE

Milligan beat fullback Richie Allen and slipped the ball past centre-half Ron Stubbings before slamming a high, curling drive into the Vic High goal from about 15 yards.

The game ended with Claremont pressing the tired-looking Tyers but both clubs were happy to settle for a draw.

FINE SERVICE

Tyers' little wing service from the left flustered Evans while Claremont was once again sustained by its three backs: Tony Quinn, Russ Ball and Darrell Cairns.

Monday's Esquimalt-Oak Bay clash begins at 3:45 p.m. at Oak Bay High School.

Some Days You Worry

By JIM TAYLOR

You say you'd like to be a sports promoter? Step closer, friend, and consider a day in the life of Neil Sprinkling.

Sprinkling is creator, manager and chief worrier for Haida Chiefs, a senior basketball team not nearly as renowned as he would prefer. So Sprinkling booked his club against the touring Harlem Stars last night and tonight at Central Junior High School, figuring that fans drawn for comedy might come back in future weeks to see Chiefs play for real.

He got his fans all right — 100 to be exact — but he didn't get the Stars, at least not until 10:24 p.m. for a game supposed to start at 9.

Small enough to be seriously hurt if he ever tell off a centre, Sprinkling makes up for it with a set of nerves better tailored for the Jolly Green Giant. Before the night was over, he was no longer a rookie in the ulcer league.

It went something like this:

8 p.m.—Stars haven't phoned, Sprinkling frets.

8:45—Chiefs warm up for first of approximately five times. Still no Stars. Sprinkling goes through fourth cigarette.

9:35—Stars arrive—two of them. Inform Sprinkling club missed 6:30 ferry at Mission. Had to charter plane, which only carries three at a time. Second load on way.

9:40—Chiefs are tired of warming up, so assistant-coach Elmer Curtis and scorekeeper Frank Viggers go out and shoot a few. They are very bad.

9:45—Two Stars on hand lean tiredly against gym wall, half-heartedly pushing Harlem Stars programs. Fans strangely silent. Too quiet for Sprinkling, who thinks about lynch mobs.

10—Sprinkling decides to refund ticket money. Swears he will never look a basketball in the seams again.

10:05—Rest of Stars arrive—three of them. Sprinkling looks apoplectic. Stars look bored. No apology offered.

10:15—Stars warm up. Noise awakens fans.

10:15—Game starts. No time for comedy, Stars play it straight all the way. Chiefs win, 77-61.

11:15—Fans go home. Sprinkling smokes 10th cigarette. Stars coach Boyd Buie promises full team for Saturday night game, plus all comedy routines. Says delay unavoidable, hopes Sprinkling understands.

11:30—Sprinkling reminds press game starts at 8 p.m., this time for sure. Hopes fans will be understanding, give club second chance.

11:35—Take for the night: about $100. Stars get 60 per cent, which probably won't pay charter fee. Chiefs get 40 per cent, which won't pay expenses.

Some days everything comes up losers.

Athletes Work for School

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gary Van Horn once told his father that he had been offered "a pretty good deal" to play football at California Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo.

Then, three years ago, the plane bringing the Cal Poly team home from a game crashed in a fog at Toledo, Ohio. Van Horn was one of 17 players who died in the flaming wreckage.

Today that "pretty good deal" Van Horn got has been interpreted this way:

Van Horn was an employee of the school.

The decision was made by the California Appeal Court and upheld by the State Supreme Court.

The decision has sent the legal experts at many schools delving into the nature of the institutions' athletic scholarships.

It means that the state will have to pay Van Horn's widow and her two children death benefits, just as if he had been a bricklayer killed on the job. She is asking $21,500.

It means that where courts interpret athletic scholarships in the same manner—United States college football players can be considered employees under the meaning of workmen's compensation. A Japanese Olympic committee sprained ankle, for instance, could entitle a halfback to unemployment benefits.

As part of his scholarship Van Horn was paid for his widow subsequently was paid a total of $245. His conversation with his father about the "good deal" was admitted to evidence as part of Mrs. Van Horn's case that her husband was an employee.

Ticket Draw For Olympiad

TOKYO (AP)—More than 2,500,000 applications have been received for tickets to the opening ceremony of the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. The Olympic committee has 62,500 tickets available.

About 3,000,000 applications are expected by December, when the tickets will be sold under the meaning of workmen's compensation. A Japanese Olympic committee sprained ankle, for instance, Esquimalt Pontiacs met Navy for the first time this season in the Esquimalt and District Hockey League last night, and the pleasure was all Pontiacs.

With goalie Ron Griffin making 40 stops to back them up, Pontiacs trounced their biggest rivals, 5-1, before about 800 fans at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

Jim Bronson scored two goals for Pontiacs, who led 2-0 at the end of the first period. Ben Price, Joe Iannarelli and Sandy George got the others, with Ken McLeod replying for Navy.

Small Matter of Pride For Bombers and Lions

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The glint of football records and the small matter of pride go on the block this weekend in two Western Football Conference season-ending games.

Both of the games, Edmonton at Calgary Saturday and Winnipeg at British Columbia Sunday, mean nothing so far as the standings are concerned. Motivations for winning these games are found elsewhere.

Football pundits are betting that Sunday afternoon's clash between Lions and Blue Bombers will be the scene-stealer.

Tonight's Edmonton-Calgary game will be seen locally over Channels 2 and 6, according to the CBC.

Both clubs have let it be known in no uncertain terms they're out to win and they'll use all the weapons in their arsenals.

The Lions, who finished in first place with a bye into the playoffs, have beaten every team in the West every time they've met them with the big exception of the proud Bombers, out of the playoffs for the first time in many years.

BEAT LIONS TWICE

Lions have met Bombers twice this season—and lost both times.

B.C. coach Dave Skrien says he and his players are out to win if only to prove they can, and he will field his playoff team to do it.

Equally, Bud Grant's sole ambition at the moment is to make a clean sweep of the three-game series with the Lions—just to prove Winnipeg is a much better club than fourth place indicates.

FEW CHANGES

"Ending on a winning note can mean all the difference for next year," says Grant, who plans, if any changes in the club that will hit Empire Stadium.

Records enter into both the Bombers-Lions game and the Eskimo-Stampeders clash at McMahon Stadium.

George Fleming of Bombers will get his final chance to shatter Jack Hill's individual scoring mark of 145 points. Fleming now is 12 points shy of the mark.

Lovell Coleman of Stampeders and Willie Fleming of Lions, with only 47 yards separating them, will be trying for the WFC rushing title.

Colwood Winners

Mrs. F. Green, with a $3,700 low gross honors in a turkey competition at Royal Colwood Golf Club recently. Mrs. D. Radford was low net, with 77. The secretary's team defeated the captain's team, 26 1/2 to 18 1/2 points in another event.

In Calgary, flanker Bobby Taylor and Pete Manning of Stampeders will go after a mark of 145 receptions made by two players on one team. So far they've snared 131 passes.

Taylor's 69 is one more than a record established a decade ago by Bud Grant and equalled in 1959 by Winnipeg and Ernie Pitts.

'Old Grumbler' Back Again

By PAUL WESTBROOK
LONDON (CP)—"The Olympic Games are a hypocritical farce."

This was one of the parting shots Gordon Pirie fired at the sports world when he set sail for New Zealand and obscurity two years ago. Now in a pre-Olympic year the old grumbler is back to taunt his enemies. Pirie quit the amateur track

Bad Season Good Crowds For Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Football Conference dropped to fourth place in the league standings from first place this year, but still managed to draw more fans into the stands than last year.

Jim Ausley, club general manager, Friday said the 1963 attendance for eight league games was 133,181 compared with 126,742 in 1962.

The number still was far short of the record 137,249 fans drawn into Winnipeg stadium during the 1959 season.

Manitoba Champion Beaten by Bob Hunt

B.C. champion Bob Hunt of Victoria defeated Manitoba champion Dave Thomson of Winnipeg, 15-1, last night in the first round of the combined Thomas Cup trials and Victoria Invitational badminton tournament.

In one of the other feature matches, Hunt and Ed Hedley stopped fourth-seeded Thomson and Larry Ladyman of Winnipeg, 13-6, 18-16.

Today's draw at Racquet Club of Victoria:

9:30—A. Lewis vs. J. Munster, R. and R. Guimaraes vs. P. McIvor.

10:00—M. Nilsson vs. D. Goffrey; J. Hunter vs. D. Armstrong; A. Davison vs. W. C. Thomas; W. Williams vs. J. Hunter; K. Woodhead and J. Polking vs. J. Strang and M. Bates.

10:30—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

10:45—D. Goffrey and W. Williams vs. J. Hunter and E. Radford; D. Armstrong and M. Bates vs. A. Davison and J. Hunter; V. Mowat and J. Polking vs. J. Strang and M. Bates.

11:00—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

12:00—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

12:15—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

12:30—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

12:45—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

1:00—Men's singles quarter-finals: M. Inglis and V. Mowat vs. M. L. Macdonald and P. Conley.

Stampede will take to the field without first-string quarterback Eagle Day, who has been released from hospital following a kidney injury.

Jerry Keeling, who quarterbacked Calgary to a 45-28 win over the hapless Eskimos in Edmonton a week ago, will handle the quarterbacking chores. For the first time this season, Eskimos will start the game with exactly the same offensive backfield that played in the preceding contest—quarterback Lynn Amedee, fullback Mike Lashuk, halfback Jim Thomas, wingback Gene Rags and flanker Joe Hernandez.

WATERED DOWN

Pirie is giving his protege a watered-down version of the formula for success tabulated by German coach Waldemar Gerschler. Athletes have to be gluttons for punishment to train on raisins and rolled oats for breakfast, one-lap sprints for lunch and bed no later than 10 p.m.

Even today track experts can't stomach these harsh routines. They accuse Gerschler, abetted by Pirie, of burning out athletes before their prime.

Whatever their opinions, a spartan life doesn't appear to have done Pirie much harm. Now 32, he's a shade plumper than in his running days but just as healthy and bitter.

In Football Argument

Walking Beats Talking

EDMOND, Okla. (AP)—It was first down and goal to go on Edmond's seven-yard-line for Oklahoma City's John Marshall High School early in the fourth quarter of their football game when a brief scuffle broke out among the players.

Referee Winslow Havenstrite paced off 15 yards against

John Marshall and it was first and 22.

At that point, coach Vince Robison of John Marshall ran onto the field to have a few words with Havenstrite. Havenstrite made it first and 37.

Robison kept arguing. Havenstrite kept walking. Ro-bison walked and talked. Havenstrite just walked.

Finally, Robison quit talking and Havenstrite quit walking.

Marshall resumed the attack on its own seven, first down and 93 yards to go. Marshall was forced to punt. But it won the game 43-8.

Richard Plea Fails To Move Campbell

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no such thing as a second record. Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, said Friday, referring to Maurice Richard's request that his 544 career goals remain in the record book as an asterisk.

"As far as I'm concerned, when Gordie Howe scores his 549th goal he will be the record holder," Campbell added in a telephone interview.

He refused to give an opinion as to which of the great right wingers was the more outstanding player.

"Howe has demonstrated that he can do everything. He's durable, a fine leader and he's an excellent defensive player as well as a goal-scorer," Campbell said.

"But Richard will always be the most dynamic and explosive player in the history of the game. Nobody that I and thousands of fans in Canada and the United States have ever seen will provide as many thrills in hockey as he did."

"I just wish we had one more like him."

Wives' Comments Sting Keys

Eagle 'Hurt Awfully Hard'

EDMONTON (CP)—Eagle's thorough investigation of the wife of quarterback Don Getty, who said his wife and family suffered considerably during the weekend then added: "I guess it goes along with coaching when you have a losing season."

Keys said he personally deplored the situation of this nature, referring to a week which saw the wives of two Eskimo players criticize his ability and the formation of a six-man committee to conduct a fore, although other places have.

Keys defended the Eskimo management and his football team.

"I'm amazed at their morale in the face of everything, and at the way they keep coming back. I admire them and feel badly for their sakes we haven't been able to do better."

Keys made his comments in a radio program Thursday night.

Mondays Are Special At Capital City Lanes

By JIM TAYLOR

Monday afternoons are special at Capital City Bowling. Harry Welch makes sure of that.

Each Monday children from the city's schools for the retarded come to the lanes, pay 25 cents, and spend the afternoon bowling. Mostly they are brought in by parents, but when parents aren't available Harry can be seen with a carload, making sure everyone gets to his lanes.

"We've had retarded people bowling Friday nights for the past couple of years," Welch explains, "but the children were getting left out. This year we arranged things so that they could have their chance."

"They get quite a kick out of it, and you know, so do we."

Word that Peggy Trickett has left her position at Gibson's Bowlingdrome came as something of a shock.

No one knew the game more or worked harder to promote it, and it's a safe bet she introduced more Victorians to bowling than anyone else around.

Well, anyway, at least now she'll be ready to bowl when her turn comes instead of rushing off to answer the telephone.

Gibby Peg Coffee breaks at Gibson's will never be quite the same.

Alex Quin won himself a badge this week at Mayfair Lanes, picking up the big four split. He slid the six-pin over, it took out the seven-pin, and the seven-pin kicked out of the gutter—woops, I mean channel—to knock over the four-pin.

The week's leading scorers:

PTERPINS
Lester Latta — Dave Williams 800 (100), Don Jones 800, Bill Schlemmer 750 (100), Jack Brown 700 (100), Fred Watson 700, Dick Bennett 700, Bruce Tate, Don Blaney 700, Doug Mitchell 675.

Capital City Lanes — Stan Bell 810 (100) and Ted Doug Crawford 800.

Shares Lead

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Gary Player of South Africa shot a second successive four-under-par 70 Friday to move in to a tie for the lead in the Australian Open golf championship with a two-round total of 140.

Sharing the lead was John Davis, a young Sydney professional who had a second round 72 on the tough 6,234-yard Royal Melbourne East course.

Howe tied Richard's mark last Sunday and can break it tonight in the Montreal Forum when the Red Wings meet the Canadiens, the Rocket's old team.

Last week, Richard pointed out that he had played in only 570 games in 18 seasons with the Canadiens and Howe has been in more than 1,120 for Detroit.

"I missed 160 games because of injuries. Howe has been luckier that way," Richard said.

LIKE NARCISSUS

"It's like when in baseball Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs in 134 games and Roger Maris hit 61 in 162 games a few years ago. They left Ruth's record in the book with an asterisk."

WRIST AND HAND CAN EXPLAIN WHY YOU HOOK OR SLICE

The position formed by the left wrist and hand at the top of the backswing can determine why you're either hooking or slicing more than you should be.

Sailor Hits Jackpot In Legion Ramble

It's been a long wait for Ray Noretto, but his number finally came up yesterday at Victoria High School.

Noretto, making his third try, won the open four-mile event of the Royal Canadian Legion cross-country races, but that's only half the story.

The Navy runner, always close up but never a winner in local races, appeared ready one week ago. But when he was running second and was making a bid for the lead, his shoelace broke. He finished 12th.

Yesterday, his laces carefully tied, Noretto finished the four-mile run in 18 minutes, 54 seconds, beating defending champion John Cliff of Victoria University by six seconds. Ken Blunt of Esquimalt was third in 19 minutes, 12 seconds.

Mark Gibson of Shawnigan Lake School won the intermediate two-and-one-half-mile run in 12:53, followed by Steve Salter of Esquimalt in 13:10 and Doug Lunam of Shawnigan Lake in 13:25.

Soft Drink Prices Hold Firm Here

Increases in the price of soft drinks announced in Toronto yesterday will have no effect on prices in Victoria, local bottlers say.

"There is nothing in our minds right now about any increase in prices and we hope not to have to increase prices," said Noel Wolfe, president of the Victoria Beverages Ltd. Things are getting a bit tight but we will hold prices as long as we can."

NOTHING HERE

Murray McFarlane, president of Canada Dry Bottling Co., said "There is nothing here about any price increases."

Two major bottling companies in Toronto blamed recent increases in sugar prices and other ingredients.

Pepsi-Cola Canada Ltd. raised its suggested retail price of a six 6½-ounce bottle carton to 46 cents from 41 and a carton of six 10-ounce bottles to 51 cents from 46 cents.

A spokesman for Seven Up Ontario Ltd. said the company boosted the price of its cartons by the same amount.

FRED MARTIN

Motel Men Pick Victorian

A Victoria motel proprietor has been elected president of an organization representing 581 B.C. motels.

Fred Martin, owner of the Hillside Auto Court, was elected president of the B.C. Motels Association at a joint convention in Vancouver of the motels association, the B.C. Hotels Association and the B.C. branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association.

He succeeds Ted Plante of Vancouver.

On his return from Vancouver last night, Mr. Martin said the motels association voted at the convention to change its name to B.C. Motels Association from Auto Courts and Resorts Association.

But the association would continue to refer to itself as ACRA, a word formed from the initials of the old name.

Mr. Martin said motels association delegates passed a resolution saying it is time the accommodation and beverage dispensing industries were dissociated in B.C.

Delegates from Vancouver Island backed this stand, he said, and the thinking of hotel and restaurant delegates seemed to be similar.

Mr. Martin said there is hope of bringing the convention to Victoria next fall.

'Neurotic Nonsense'

OTTAWA (UPI) — Opposition leader John Diefenbaker yesterday branded major parts of the government's budgetary income tax bill "neurotic nonsense" and "entirely unworkable."

Mr. Diefenbaker, re-entering debate on the bill which has dragged through the Commons for almost a month, said his party supported measures to close tax loopholes in Canada, but thought proposals dealing with investment were "ill-advised."

He referred specifically to a clause which would penalize foreign owners, mainly American, not wishing to allow Canadian acquisition of 25 per cent control in their Canadian subsidiaries.

He said the bill was "neurotic nonsense" and "entirely unworkable."

This could only have a detrimental effect on investment in Canada, Mr. Diefenbaker said.

He traced the "frightful degradation" in U.S.-Canada relations back to the June 13 budget and said that in six months Canada's position in the U.S. and internationally "has been degraded as never before, all because the theo-ists took over and the practical men were kept in the background."

He classified Finance Minister Walter Gordon as a theorist or "academic" and said the only reason he still held his portfolio was because he (Diefenbaker) predicted last month "Gordon would go."

Mr. Gordon described the speech as "just another one of Diefenbaker's political offerings" and expressed disappointment that the Opposition leader had chosen to say "nothing about the bill."

New Democrat leader T. C. Douglas said he thought the Conservatives were running into difficulty in their criticism of the government's relations with Washington.

On one day, the Liberals were accused of being "subservient" to the U.S., and the next day the Tories called them "anti-American."

The socialist leader said he thought the bill's foreign ownership measures were "feeble and ineffective" but his party supported them as a "gesture toward giving Canada some control over American and foreign corporations."

The two-hour program will be directed by bandmaster Leontine Jones with Ruth of the two uniformed men entered first and said they were carrying out a police check.

MARSEILLE, France (Reuters)—Four armed gangsters, two of them wearing riot police uniforms, held up a bank here Thursday and made off with 100,000 francs ($20,000). The two uniformed men entered first and said they were carrying out a police check.

Naden Band Plays Nov. 18

HMCS Naden's 45-man band will give its fourth annual concert in support of the Armed Services Centre Nov. 18 at 8:30 p.m. in the Royal Theatre.

The two-hour program will be directed by bandmaster Leontine Jones with Ruth of the two uniformed men entered first and said they were carrying out a police check.

'Dress U.K. In Kilts'

LONDON (AP) — Tailor and Cutter has advocated the kilt as a national dress for the British male.

"It's far too good just for Scotsmen," said the magazine. "Since the invention of the bicycle, and the wide inter-breeding which it made possible, there are few British families untouched by Scottish blood."

Installing efficient heat

Mayor Wilson said it would be useful to have a civic auditorium in Victoria but the cost appeared to be too high because it would duplicate many facilities already available in the arena.

The arena lost some $3,700 on its overall operations last year and there is no immediate prospect of profits for the future while it remains in its present outmoded form.

The question of turning the arena into a multi-purpose coliseum might appear to be "on cloud nine," said Mayor Wilson, but it was worth considering because of the $1,000,000 MacPherson bequest which comes to the city in 1967.

Man-and-Child Film is Fine - No Lolita

By IAN STREET

It is gossip which finally reaches Kruger's mistress, Nicole Courcel. Unhappy at first, she follows the pair to the park and decides no harm will come to the child.

To make the child's dream of Christmas come true, the ex-flyer takes a fully decorated tree from a friend's apartment and sets it up in the woods on Christmas Eve.

CAN ONLY CRY
 The girl's absence from school is reported, however, and the tragic finale is played out. The woman is powerless to help the man she loves. She can only cry out: "Unless something conforms to your idea of happiness, you reject it as abnormal."

Serge Bourguignon, the director, never allows interest to wane and the black and white photography, most of it on location near Paris, is excellent.

But, human nature being what it is, the affection shown by man and child for each other results

Down Inquest Adjourned Until Dec. 2
 The coroner's jury in the George Down murder case met yesterday, but police said it was just a formality.

Law requires that the inquest be reconvened at least once a month, but there was nothing discussed on the case.

Down was found murdered in the Hudson's Bay Parkade early Aug. 23, and police have run out of clues in the case.

Coroner Dr. J. H. Moore called the roll of jurors, said the case was still under investigation, then adjourned the inquest to Dec. 2.

Road Firm Gets Extra
 A Vancouver construction firm will get an extra $56,670 for work it did on the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway.

A cabinet order yesterday approved the payment to Dawson Construction Ltd. because a revision of grades caused the removal of additional quantities of material under unfavorable conditions.

The order established that Ottawa will pay 90 per cent of the additional sum.

Man-and-Child Film is Fine - No Lolita

Both deal with the relationship between a man and a 12-year-old girl—but there all similarity ends. In this one, an air force veteran who suffers from amnesia is slowly drawn into a close relationship with a girl who has been abandoned by her parents at a convent school.

SUNDAY WALKS
 The girl, played by Patricia Goetz, an enchanting elf with a smile that lights up the darkened theatre, begs him not to leave her alone. He agrees to take her for walks on Sunday.

She treats the ex-flyer, played by Hardy Kruger, as another child, separated by his illness from home and parents, and they share a magical world of trees and water on their Sunday outings.

Pageant to End Services

The 75th anniversary services in Centennial United Church will conclude Sunday with a pageant, The Altar and the Fireside.

Every department of the church will take part in the morning event. The pageant starts with a bride and groom before the altar and goes on to the establishment of a Christian home. It points up the church's responsibility for children and reaches a climax with a reception service for youth.

At evening service The Witnesses will be featured. Portrayed will be the place of women in the life of Christ and His church beginning with the women at the resurrection and ending with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and her work at the United Nations.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 a.m. in Christ Church Cathedral with Choral Eucharist being sung at 11 a.m. Morning sermon will be by Rev. Canon T. Bailey. Rev. Roy A. Holt will preach the sermon at Evensong.

Morning sermon at Metropolitan United Church by Dr. F. E. H. James will be on "When Will Kingdom Come." His evening sermon will be "A Faith of Your Own."

Golden text at all Christian Science services Sunday will be from the book of Isaiah 45:17. "Israel shall be saved in the Lord with an everlasting salvation: ye shall not be ashamed or confounded without end."

Pastor Jack Loughton will speak on the subject of "The Five Foolish Virgins" in his sermons in the First Church of the Nazarene Sunday.

He chose the topic in preparation for the Greater Victoria Crusade for Christ soon to be held in Victoria.

International lecturer and editor of the Herbologist Magazine, Rev. John Shenton of London, England, will address public meetings next week. He will speak in Newstead Hall, 734 Fort Street at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on "The Day That Will Change the World." Wednesday at Loughheed's Hall at 3 p.m. he will speak on "The Divine Charter for Abundant Health and Healing and on the same day at 7:45 p.m. at the same place his subject will be "God's Answer to World Chaos."

Christianity in Sports Depicted in Film

Play for Keeps, a motion picture featuring six Christian athletes in sports action and Christ-centred testimonies will be shown in Victoria High School at 8 p.m. Saturday. Rev. T. W. Chapman of the Grace Church announced yesterday.

Featured in the picture will be highlights of actual games which the athletes played in on the field tips and a look behind the scenes at professional baseball and football.

Stars of the picture which is filmed in colour are Alvin Dark, manager of the San Francisco Giants; Felipe Alou, outfielder of the San Francisco Giants; Bobby Richardson, second baseman of the New York Yankees; Bill Wade, quarterback for the Chicago Bears; Raymond Berry, end for the Baltimore Colts and Bill Glass, defensive end with the Cleveland Browns.

The production was filmed by Youth Films who in 1962 produced the award winning Tony Fontane Story.

Bad Sales Pitches Found in Victoria

Two unsavory direct-sales promotions have been turned up in the past couple of weeks by the Vancouver Island Better Business Bureau.

The bureau's September-October newsletter says the bureau received calls recently from four housewives who had been told by a saleswoman they had been selected to receive a bonus if they bought furniture at a low price on a layaway program.

DOWN PAYMENT

Delivery would be when the purchase was paid for.

A $10 down payment was required. Checking by the bureau showed the company address given by the saleswoman was phony and the saleswoman "had a record as long as your arm; she was being sought by authorities on the mainland."

The bureau called the RCMP and the saleswoman has not been heard from.

FEW FEET FREE

Another "pitch" involved a camera equipment salesman who offered to take a few feet of film of the family free, with the object of selling a camera, projector, screen, splicer and light bar.

"Nothing wrong with this. Now comes the contract! A little calculating will reveal the total time payment price at something in excess of $500," it says.

IF APPLICABLE

"Similar equipment could be purchased in a retail store for approximately $200 plus carrying charges if applicable."

The newsletter said it is unfortunate both cases involved direct sales "because each unsavory incident is a reflection on the whole field of direct selling and this makes the lot of the ethical salesman very difficult."

Three-Year Pact

Laundry Staff Paid More

Some 40 workers at Economy Steam Laundry will receive wage increases totalling nine cents an hour under a three-year contract agreed to yesterday.

The contract, effective immediately, involves workers at Economy and the affiliated firm Commercial Towel and Linen.

DIRECT CHARTER

The workers belong to Laundry Workers Local Union 6, a directly-chartered Canadian Labor Congress local.

Previous base rate was $1.19 an hour. The contract calls for annual three-cent wage increases. It also calls for three weeks' vacation after eight years service, instead of after 10, and for a voluntary CU and C health and welfare plan with the cost split 50-50 between company and employee.

Fireworks, Ban Plan Wins Favor

A Victoria taxi driver who plans to petition for a ban on fireworks said he has received several phone calls supporting his stand—and none opposing it.

John Bean of 615 Vancouver last night said a doctor is among those who have called to support his stand and another caller said he was willing to join Mr. Bean's fight against the fireworks danger.

MOTHER OF THREE

Meanwhile, a young mother of three phoned the Colonist last night to say she too would be willing to take up the cudgels on behalf of Mr. Bean's anti-fireworks crusade.

"I was beginning to think I was the only one who felt like this," said the housewife, who asked not to be identified.

NOT AT HALLOWEEN

She said she would not object so much to fireworks being let off, say, on July 1. "But not when the kids are out gathering candy and apples."

She said firecracker opponents are usually characterized as being elderly or childless. "But I am in my early 20s." She said she had two preschool children out trick-or-treating Thursday night and will have three children on the streets next Halloween.

STRESS DANGER

"People don't seem to think there's any danger," she said. "Does it have to take your own child losing an eye?"

Mr. Bean's phone number is EV 6-4574.

Obituaries

B.C. Hydro Official Austin Goward Dies

Austin Goward, a native son of Victoria and B.C. Hydro's chief information officer for Vancouver Island, died yesterday at 50.

Born in Victoria, Mr. Goward attended St. Aidan's school.

He was a veteran of 31 years service with the B.C. Electric and B.C. Hydro, having joined the utility in 1932 as a meter reader.

In 1937 he was transferred to the publicity department, and was appointed as chief information officer in January, 1962.

SERVED WITH RCAF

Mr. Goward served with the RCAF here and in England from 1940 to 1945 as a sergeant in the administrative branch.

He was a member of the Pacific Club, Victoria Electric Club and BCE Veterans' Association.

He came of a well-known Victoria family. An uncle, A. T. Goward, was a BCE vice-president from 1922 to 1945.

He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. G. B. (Helen) Paterson, Miss Rhoda Goward and Miss Margaret Goward, all of Victoria.

Richard Hoskin Duce

Richard Hoskin Duce, who came to Victoria in 1907, died Wednesday at 77.

Mr. Duce built houses and dealt in real estate in Victoria before going overseas with the 47th Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary force in 1914.

He moved to California in 1919, where he went into the movie business as an art director.

He was with Metro-Goldwyn

Mayer studios for 23 years until his retirement in 1952.

Mr. Duce moved back to Victoria last year and lived at 2119 McLaren.

His story and views were in The Daily Colonist in August.

He is survived by his wife Charlotte Margaret, at the residence, and two sisters in Los Angeles.

Funeral services will be held at McCall Bros. at 3:15 p.m. today, with Canon George Biddle officiating.

John H. C. Best

John H. C. Best, an electrical and plumbing maintenance employee at St. Joseph's Hospital for the past 19 years, died Thursday at 64.

Mr. Best retired for health reasons in June and was honored by members of St. Joseph's Hospital staff Oct. 23. Thursday, he returned to the hospital to visit friends and while there, suffered a stroke and later died.

Born in Clifton, Kansas, he came to Victoria in 1943 from Saskatoon.

He is survived by his wife Florence at the residence, 321 Montreal Street; one son, Raymond of Vancouver; three brothers, William, Terrace,

B.C., George, North Battleford, Sask., and Archie, Oakville, Ont.

He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. A. J. East, Olympia, Wash., and Mrs. C. E. Cook, Burlington, Ont.

He was a member of Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Funeral services will be held in McCall Bros. Floral Chapel, Monday at 1 p.m. with Rev. A. C. Hamill officiating.

Oral Vaccine Here Nov. 18

The Metropolitan Board of Health announced yesterday that Sabin oral polio vaccine will be available to residents of Greater Victoria during the week of Nov. 18.

While available to everyone, the vaccine is primarily intended as a reinforcing or booster dose for those who have had three doses of the Salk vaccine or one dose of Sabin vaccine.

PUPILS, ON CONSENT

The Sabin oral vaccine will be given to every school child for whom consent has been signed by the parents.

Of necessity, the oral vaccination program must be restricted to one week.

Stocks of the vaccine must be stored at a very low temperature, necessitating special refrigerating arrangements.

Special clinics will be held as follows: Victoria, 1947 Cook Street, Nov. 18, 20 and 22 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Oak Bay, 2167 Oak Bay Avenue, Nov. 18, 20 and 22 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Langford, 800 Goldstream, Nov. 18 and 20 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Sidney, 9612 4th Street, Nov. 18 and 20 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

MOORE ISLANDS

In Sooke, the clinic will be held at 80 Murray Road on Nov. 18 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Nov. 22 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.; Salt Spring Island, Ganges, Nov. 18 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. and Nov. 22 from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.; Galiano Island, school, Nov. 21 from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.; Mayne Island, school, Nov. 22 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.; Pender Island, school, Nov. 27 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and Saturna Island, school, Nov. 28 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Arts Student Crowned As Homecoming Queen

First year arts student Joan MacKenzie was crowned Homecoming Queen last night, highlighting a week of Homecoming activities at the University of Victoria.

She was chosen by a board of faculty and students' council members who met the five queen candidates at a tea Thursday.

Miss MacKenzie, who was representing second year arts, is majoring in history and French with the hope of being able to enter the diplomatic service when she graduates.

Her princesses are Jan Laidlaw, representing second year education, and Eileen Jacobson, representing upper arts.

The 600 students at the dance were entertained by Stuart Clay, a folk singer from Los Angeles who has appeared at most of the large coffee houses in North America.

Holiday Longer

B.C. civil servants will get an extra day's holiday—Dec. 27—at Christmas this year.

The extra day, proclaimed by the cabinet and announced yesterday by Civil Service Commission chairman Dr. H. M. Morrison, enables government employees to have a five-day Christmas break.

Storm Victims

Three Vessels Rally To Aid of Troller

Three ships were called upon to aid the storm-tossed crippled troller Tedmac, before she was towed to safety in quiet Cadboro Bay Friday.

The Victoria fishboat was skippered by Bob McBay. During yesterday's storm, in which winds reached 54 miles an hour, the troller lost her mast, and rigging trailed into the water and fouled her propeller.

Helpless, she waited until another troller, the El Toro got a line on her and started a tow.

TOWLINE BREAKS

However, the cleat holding the towline broke and the line was lost.

The dragger Ocean Traveller moved in as the Tedmac was unable to turn in the gale but the larger was unable to get close enough. The Navy diving tender, the YMT 10, was diverted from its search for another vessel, the Oriole, and provided a windbreak enabling the Ocean Traveller to get a line to the Tedmac.

CLOSE TO ROCKS

A search for the Oriole, the RCN training vessel was started after a woman reported that a three-masted vessel was in trouble close to the rock of Strongside Island.

She had seen the mainmast come down and thought the vessel was in difficulty and reported it.

OUT OF SIGHT

When she returned the ship had sailed out of sight but she thought it had sunk.

A helicopter, a Navy tracker plane and the tug Clifton were dispatched to look for the ship and she was eventually spotted, safe in Swartz Bay, by helicopter pilot Lieut. Gerald McMillen.

DEBILATED BY CALLS

In Vancouver the Rescue Co-ordination Centre handled 70 calls in as many minutes with the difficulties of the troller and the search for the Oriole.

The Salt Spring Queen reported a pleasure craft in trouble and unable to make headway against the heavy swell even with the occupant using his oars to augment his motor power.

The department of mines and technical surveys vessel Ekholi was diverted and she towed the small craft to the safety of Fulford Harbor.

Flames Cost $2,000

A $2,000 fire yesterday gutted the bedroom of a house at 267 Tillamook Road and caused extensive smoke damage throughout the rest of the house, Esquimalt police say.

No one was home when the fire broke out shortly after 9 a.m. The house is occupied by Mrs. Isabelle Colby and her two children.

Esquimalt firemen had the blaze under control within minutes after they arrived, but it was some time before the smoke cleared and they were able to determine no one had been in the house.

Centennial Square Launched Monday

By IAN STREET

City council yesterday authorized calling of tenders Monday for renovation of the 85-year-old city hall and construction of a new administrative wing, thus launching the first phase of the $2,000,000 Centennial Square project.

When tenders are returned at the end of the month, it is expected the price of the job will be confirmed at about $575,000. Construction will begin by the end of the year.

Ald. Millard Mooney, alone of the members of council who attended the meeting, did not vote on the resolution authorizing the tender call. It was passed 8 to 0.

Earlier, apparently in hopes of winning a unanimous endorsement for the start of construction, Mayor R. B. Wilson ordered that answers to the 12 questions concerning the project submitted in writing by Ald. Mooney at the last council meeting be read out.

No Debate Allowed

After hearing city manager Dennis Young's written report providing the answers, Ald. Mooney said he would still like to see further consideration given to replacing the city hall with a new building instead of renovating and adding to it.

There was no debate since the city's procedure bylaw, under which formal questions of this kind are submitted and answered in council, does not permit discussion or rebuttal at this time.

At the start of the special meeting, council went into committee to hear an explanation of the working plans for new city hall accommodation.

No serious objections were raised and aldermen quickly dealt with two principal points raised by the Centennial Square planning committee.

They decided to accept the suggested arrangement for council members' private office accommodation.

Aldermen Agreed

The consulting architects suggested this be submitted to council at a later date. Aldermen agreed.

Report dealing with Ald. Mooney's questions said the 85-year-old city hall would be "a permanent structure capable of serving the city for as long as it is felt necessary," costing approximately half as much as a new building.

The third floor of the building has never been condemned, the report added, and renovations will comply with the National Building Code and all city bylaws.

Cost of replacement of all the "limited" areas in which dry rot has been found is included in the estimates for renovation.

The report agreed with Ald.

Mooney's claim that several previous councils had gone on record as favoring location of a new city hall elsewhere in the city.

But Mr. Young pointed out this would have lost the historical associations, the economic advantage of renovation as opposed to new construction and the value of having the civic offices as an integral part of Centennial Square.

Usher New Manager

Manager C. C. Head of Victoria Grain Elevator Ltd., who announced his retirement yesterday after 10 years' service, will be succeeded today by C. F. Usher, elevator superintendent.

Adult Centre Plan Sent to Peterson

School trustees of Greater Victoria have completed a brief on the proposed board-run adult education centre and vocational school and the document should be on the desk of Education Minister Peterson Monday.

Trustees hope to follow the document with a personal meeting.

The plan has been under discussion for about eight months and trustees were disconcerted recently when they learned the department had a similar plan, but for a general vocational program. The trustees wanted an adult education centre with a more localized vocational program.

The board was assisted by 75 local businessmen, all are in favor of the trustees' plan.

Ashes No Aspirin

Don't keep Grandma's ashes under the bed. It may upset your wife.

The September-October issue of the Vancouver Island Better Business Bureau newsletter contains the following item:

"Believe it or not, we had a lady come in the other day with an appeal for assistance. It seems her husband insists on keeping an urn under the bed; said urn contains the ashes of a deceased relative, and it makes the little lady nervous and uncomfortable to have to sleep over someone's ashes."

Wet October Also Warm

Victorians had a warmer, wetter and drier October than usual this year with fewer days of rainfall, but harder downpours. It was the warmest in 10 years.

The city escaped frost, but the Tillamook area on the Trans-Canada Highway recorded a temperature of 30 degrees Oct. 19.

The average temperature during the month was 53 degrees—1.2 higher than usual. The highest temperature was 67.2, on the 14th, and the lowest, 42.1 on the 26th and 27th.

It rained 4.76 inches on 13 days—one day less than normal. These were days when precipitation was measurable, .01 inches or more.

The sun shone brightly for 119.2 hours, which was 21.5 hours fewer than the average for October. Total precipitation this year is 15.37 inches, 3.03 inches less than the average.

The wind speed averaged 9.7 m.p.h.—5 m.p.h. higher than usual for October.

The average temperature was the ninth highest in 85 years of record and the highest in the last 10 years.

Jury Retires Twice, Finally Frees Pair

An assize court jury retired twice yesterday to consider charges of breaking and entering and possession of burglar tools against Sidney Travers and Neil J. McKinnon before bringing in a verdict of not guilty.

The jury retired at 4:40 p.m. to consider a verdict and returned at 10:30 p.m. to tell Mr. Justice R. A. B. Wootton they could not decide. Mr. Justice Wootton sent them back to try again.

It returned at close to 11 p.m. and handed in a verdict of not guilty after 6½ hours of deliberating.

CASE ENDS

The case ended yesterday with the completion of a summation by defence counsel David Hummel, summation of Crown prosecutor David Edgar, and the charge to the jury by Mr. Justice Wootton.

Travers and McKinnon were charged after Doman's Lumber Co., 280 Bay, was broken into July 28, and an attempt was made first to crack, then to steal, the company's safe.

The trial started Tuesday.

City Appeal May Yet Reach Goal

Greater Victoria United Appeal chairman John Wallace said yesterday he is not pessimistic over collections to date and that the appeal may yet realize its $400,000 goal.

Mr. Wallace made his statement as the appeal went into overtime, with only 66 per cent of the goal reached. Original deadline for the 1963 campaign was this weekend.

He said most of the donations were greater than in previous years, but they were slower in coming in.

Poppy Drive Starts Here

The annual Remembrance Day poppy campaign has begun Lt.-Cmdr. H. E. Luky, campaign manager, said yesterday.

In remembrance of more than 104,000 Canadians who gave their lives in the last three wars, the campaign is conducted to obtain funds to assist veterans and their dependents in time of need.

By the constitution of the Royal Canadian Legion these funds cannot be used for any other purpose.

"We hope every citizen, young and old, will wear a poppy, the emblem of remembrance on Nov. 11," said Mr. Luky.

Poppies are made by disabled veterans. Wreaths and sprays are available at the Remembrance Day committee office at 1115 Langley, EV 6-2533.

IN THE ROTUNDA

The annual ceremony to honor the civil service dead of two world wars will be held in the rotunda of the legislature Friday at 4:30 p.m. A highlight will be the laying of a wreath by Lieutenant-Governor Parkes.

The public is free to attend and the government has issued a special invitation to relatives of those civil servants who gave their lives for their country.

Help!

Pulling leg of passersby was accomplished with pair of mannequin arms Halloween night by pranksters on the Victoria University campus: Arms, from unknown source, were planted near danger sign installed by construction workers on Gordon Head campus. Startling effect was first spotted by campus policeman.—(W. A. Boucher)

Spandli-Moore

Bride Carries Fall Blooms

Miss Marilyn Sylvia Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. S. Moore, 2753 Asquith Street recently became the bride of Inure Spandli, son of Mrs. G. Spandli of Hungary. The candlelight ceremony was in Metropolitan United Church. Pink chrysanthemums decorated the church for the double ceremony. Dr. F. E. H. James officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length gown of candlelight mauve de sole with lace appliques, styled with low cut back neckline.

A shoulder-length veil with scalloped edge misted from a circle of pink flowers. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of pink chrysanthemums and heather.

Miss E. Karvelis, as maid of honor, wore a gown of moss green pearly de sole with headpiece and shoes on tone. Small pink chrysanthemums were in her bouquet.

Richard Searrow was best man. Ushers were Boyd Moore, brother of the bride and Norman Gourley, her brother-in-law.

At a reception in the Salisbury Way home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Moore, the toast was proposed by the bride's uncle, Harold Moore. A three-tier wedding cake and silver chandeliers centered the buffet table. Autumn-toned chrysanthemums decorated the table and fireplace.

Following a honeymoon trip to Washington and Oregon the couple will make their home in Victoria.

The bride's travelling dress, cranberry red coat, black accessories and maribou head circlet and veil in beige. Cream Johanna Hill rosebuds were in her corsage.

Hadassah Makes $1,500

Over 200 people had their lunch at the Hadassah Jewish Smorgasbord and bazaar which cleared a profit of $1,500 this week.

Many were turned away when the food ran out. The bake sale was also sold out in record time. Chancelor J. C. Clearhouse, Victoria University, opened the affair, and he was presented with a "tree certificate." A real tree was planted in "Canada Forest" in Israel in his name to commemorate the occasion.

All money raised at the bazaar will be used to purchase food, medical supplies and lumber for the State of Israel.

Mrs. Harry Israel was general convener.

Presiding at the tea urns were Mrs. L. V. Wade, Mrs. N. Andrews, Mrs. A. B. Young, Mrs. E. R. Gunning, Mrs. H. A. Brown and Mrs. J. Garden.

Royal Child Two, Sunday

LONDON (UPI) — Princess Margaret's son, David Albert Charles, Viscount Linley, is two years old on Sunday.

There's going to be a little family party for him with a two-candle cake and among the friends on hand to share it will be David's cousin, Prince Andrew. Queen Elizabeth's son who will be four in February.

As was true on Little Lord Linley's first birthday a year ago, speculation continues as to when Princess Margaret will have another child.

The speculation is "when" rather than "if" since Margaret is known among friends to want at least two children and, hopefully not too far apart.

At age 3, Lord Linley is a small healthy boy with his mother's big blue eyes and his father's features. Photos show he bears a close resemblance to his father at the same age.

The baby is fifth in line of succession to the throne, coming behind Queen Elizabeth's three children and his mother. With the Queen now expecting her fourth child early next year, he soon will be shoving down a notch.

METROPOLITAN

The regular monthly meeting of the Metropolitan United Church Women will be held on Monday, Nov. 4, at 8 p.m. in the Ladies' Parlor. Mr. Alan Jones will speak on "Christian Education in Our Own Church."

The devotional, under direction of Mrs. D. Cunningham, will be given by members of the CGIT, with a solo by Miss Helen Sewell.

PERSONAL MENTION

Sir Basil Spence, one of Britain's foremost architects, will visit Vancouver on Wednesday, Nov. 13 and 14 under auspices of the Vancouver Art Gallery and UBC. He will be accompanied by Lady Spence. On Wednesday he will speak on "An Architect's Confession" at the Vancouver Art Gallery. Sir Basil is the designer of the great new Coventry Cathedral.

Engagement Announced

NANAIMO — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Addison of Attington Road, Nanaimo announce the engagement of their daughter, Wendy Joan, to Mr. Alfred Edward Fife, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fife of St. Andrews United Church, Nanaimo. The marriage will take place in St. Andrews United Church, Nov. 30. Principals are graduates of Nanaimo Secondary School and active members of the Cedar Riding Club.

Surprise Shower

Staff members of Eaton's accounts office gathered at the Hobbs Road home of Mrs. M. Kylo for a surprise shower honoring Miss Freida Pearman, whose marriage to Mr. Bill Dealey takes place Saturday, Nov. 9. Corsages were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. A. Pearman, and to Mrs. F. Dealey, mother of groom-to-be. Miss Pearman was the recipient of an electric steam iron, toaster, kettle and set of towels.

Miscellaneous Shower

Mrs. W. J. Main and Mrs. F. C. Campbell were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Patricia Martindale, whose marriage to Mr. Donald Dakers takes place this evening. The guest of honor received a container with wax oranges and leaves and topped with an orange blossom candle. Mrs. W. H. Martindale, mother of the bride-to-be, and Mrs. D. J. Dakers, mother of the groom-to-be, received scented candles in brandy snifters.

Other guests were Mrs. F. Spedding, Mrs. E. Mawle, Mrs. A. Pender, Mrs. K. Campbell, Mrs. J. Todd, Mrs. R. Smythe, Mrs. T. White, Mrs. N. Arsenau, Mrs. F. Poole, Mrs. T. Keays, Mrs. H. Rumbay, Mrs. W. Ayton and the Misses Shirley Main, Ann White, Sharon Gill and Linda Keays.

Long-Legged Models Sweden's Big Export

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Sweden is planning to increase one of her most appreciated exports — beautiful, long-legged models.

Fashion houses and art studios in most Western capitals ask for more and more of these tall, expertly trained girls.

The Swedish Mannequins' Association reports about 50 Swedish girls now are modelling in New York, Paris, London, Rome and Zurich. This represents about 20 per cent of the association's membership.

Swedish girls come from tall, lean stock and they know all about the fame achieved by such compatriots as Greta Garbo, Ingrid Bergman and Anita Ekberg. So a constant stream of girls flows into Stockholm's three schools for models.

One of the schools, run by a former model, Kim Soederlund, is making plans to develop the potential export market.

She said: "I have been running this school for seven years, and inspected perhaps 1,000 girls a year to be trained. Of these I choose 10."

"Now I am looking ahead, and I am going to make my standards even higher so that girls who leave this school will be known all over the world as the best of all over 1,000 girls. I shall choose only five."

Models are born, not made, Mrs. Soederlund believes. "You cannot be a model if you do not have a good head and a good heart. Make-up cannot hide anything."

All the models turned out by the school are about five feet nine inches tall and weigh an average of 110 pounds. Most of them are brunettes, only a quarter are "typical" Swedish blondes.

On show at a Paris exhibition of new trends in the world of imitation jewelry ensembles were, at left, strings of pearls worn around arm, neck and hair by Libane, and right, creations in silver, comprising necklaces, evening bag, rings and arm bracelet by Solange.—(Fednews)

Beauty Operator

Opens the Eyes Of Madame Nhu

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—In a salon of beauty, a woman is herself.

It is a place where imperfections cannot be hidden from the world.

Madame Ngo Dinh Nhu is no different, except she has little—if anything—to hide. But as a result of "styling" by cosmetologist Aida Grey at the Beverly Wilshire Hotel, Madame Nhu will go home looking more Vietnamese.

RAISED BROWS

"I opened the eyes and raised the brows," explained Miss Grey shortly after her appointment with Madame Nhu last night prior to her speech before county young Republicans.

"Previously she had used the Oriental—heavy brows and closed eyelids," said Miss Grey, a native of France who as a teenager entered the profession of making women beautiful.

"I made the lines less severe."

Miss Grey originally spent a day and a half with the controversial Mme. Nhu last week. But her opinions about the so-called Dragon Lady did not include politics.

"I am an artist, I don't follow politics," said Miss Grey. "For a change you will find me in favor of Mme. Nhu."

WOULD LIKE HER

"If other women could meet her as an individual they might like her too. She is fantastically feminine, with a curiosity and love of life. When I restyled her makeup, she was relaxed and receptive to new ideas and fashions. She is very chic."

Galliano Island Couple Marries

GALLIANO ISLAND — A quiet wedding was solemnized recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Thompson, Vancouver, uniting in marriage Mrs. Josephine Steward and Mr. George Newton, both of Galliano Island. Rev. J. Struthers of West Burnaby United Church officiated. Mrs. Steward is the daughter of Mrs. E. L. Barnes, of Victoria, and the late Mr. Barnes.

The bride wore a waist-length gown of open blue peau-de-seed with a wide collar of seed pearls, and accessories on tone. Her corsage was pink orchids. Her only attendant was Mrs. Ron Thompson, mistress of honor, who wore a biscuit shade sheath dress styled with floating shoulder panels, and accessories on tone.

Mr. Ron Thompson was best man.

Toast to the bride was given by Mr. Earl Young, Galliano.

For their honeymoon to Kamloops, the bride wore a green wool suit and brown accessories. They will reside on Galliano.

Bride Feted

Mrs. Gerry Morin was hostess at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Inure Spandli, the former Marilyn Moore who was married recently in Metropolitan United Church. Pink carnation corsages were presented to the bride and her mother, Mrs. H. E. S. Moore. Guests were Mrs. S. Boyd H. Moore, Miss Linda Moore and Mrs. N. H. Gourlay, Duncan; Miss Gaye Petcoff, Miss E. Karvelis, Mrs. K. Westra, Mrs. V. Cannings, Mrs. C. Milne, Mrs. Gillian McKenzie and Mrs. Jack Moore.

BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

The Woman's Benefit Association, No. 1 will meet in the Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street on Monday, Nov. 4 at 7:45 p.m.

Gift Sale Nov. 6

WA to St. John's Church, Colwood, will hold a tea and Christmas Gift sale on Wednesday, Nov. 6 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall.

There will be stalls of home cooking, home-made bread, sewing, aprons, novelties, plants, fruit and candy. A tea will be served during the afternoon.

Mrs. F. A. Goodwin, diocesan president, will open the annual bazaar put on by St. Mary's Evening WA Saturday, Nov. 9, starting at 11:30 a.m. in the Church Hall, 1608 Yale Street. Lunch will be served until 1 p.m., followed by afternoon tea from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Mrs. L. H. Edwards will be convener of refreshments. Showing just a few of the numerous items for sale are from Mrs. E. Andrews, Mrs. A. C. Murray, president, Mrs. A. H. Stokes and Mrs. H. K. Newell.

Tea Success

Fall tea netted more than $300 for the Afternoon Branch of Woman's Auxiliary to Christ Church Cathedral, held recently in Memorial Hall.

Mrs. M. Moore and Mrs. H. S. Langford received the gifts. Mrs. G. A. P. Harris was at the door. Mrs. J. Sled and Mrs. E. A. Fielder were tea conveners. Mrs. L. Curtis was in charge of flower arrangements. Mrs. E. Gollmer convoked the home baking stall, and Mrs. A. I. Marlowe the superfluids table.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Three months ago I started to date a 33-year-old attorney. I am 25. He has never been married and lives with his widowed mother. He told me last night that I am the type of a girl he would like to marry—and added, "provided you can pass the test." I asked him what test, and these are the questions he asked:

"Are you neat about the way you squeeze toothpaste out of the tube? Do you roll your hair up at night and cream your face?" (He can't tolerate this.) "How often do you change bed linen?" (He insists on fresh linen every night.)

I was shocked at these questions and treated them as a joke. Now he was dead serious. But I ask you, Ann Landers, in the absence of other peculiarities does this man sound like a good marriage prospect? What would you do?—JASMINE.

Clubs

CEREBRAL PALSY
Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett will open the annual bazaar of the Women's Auxiliary to Victoria Cerebral Palsy Clinic today at 11 a.m., to be held in the Canadian Legion Hall on Blanshard Street.

VETERAN'S WA
Regular meeting of the WA to the Veterans' Hospital, will be held in the hospital Monday, Nov. 4 at 2 p.m.

A lot is riding on your answer so think through carefully. — INTERESTED PARTY
Dear Party: The girl did not ask me for advice so I will not attempt to give her any.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

It is a fallacy to suppose that a precise exchange of information in the bidding is necessarily a good thing. Once the bidding is over, your accurate exchange can only help the defenders. Giving less away to the opponents is one of the advantages of the Schenken "Big Club" System, published by Simon and Schuster under the title "Better Bidding in 15 Minutes."

There is no trump in an optimistic contract on these North-South cards, and is sure to be defeated by a spade lead. But the actual bidding, using the "Big Club" showing 17 points or more, had the advantage of giving little help to West in choosing his opening lead.

It was purely coincidental that South had clubs and North had diamonds. Both these calls were artificial. North's response showing fewer than nine high cards. South's one-trump rebid showed a hand slightly too good for an opening no trump, which promises 16-18. South's useful heart 10 turned the scale in favor of the club opening. North's jump to three no trump was a reasonable gamble; he hoped that the diamond suit would produce five tricks.

Standard bidders might reach the same contract after a two no trump rebid by South. But in that case the opening bid and the rebid would be natural, so West would be more likely to find the devastating spade lead. The actual bidding gave little away and skill. He took East's club jack with the king and developed hearts immediately. He had to take the risk that East would hold the heart ace and West the spade ace. West won the third round of hearts and shifted belatedly to a low spade. Declarer took the king and still needed to guess the location of the diamond queen. Since West had failed to lead a spade, it was not difficult to judge that East had considerable spade length. This made it likely that the diamond length was with West, so declarer played the diamond ace and finessed the nine, ending with 11 tricks.

First Turbine Car Issued by Firm

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chrysler Corp. has turned over to a suburban family the keys to its first turbine-powered automobile.

It was the start of a two-year program during which 50 turbine cars will be lent to a series of selected users who will report on what they think of them.

Richard E. Vlna of suburban Broadview received the first car.

Driver Didn't Know?

A driver whose car struck a young girl while she was doing Halloween rounds in Sidney Thursday may not even know he hit her.

Sidney RCMP said last night Valerie Richards, 8, of 9565 Patricia Bay Highway was wearing dark clothes as she walked along Weller Avenue when the car struck her.

She was taken home where it was discovered her only injury appeared to be a headache.

WITH SISTER
She was walking with her older sister when the accident occurred.

Several witnesses were able to supply police a description of the car which was immediately broadcast to all departments.

As of last night there were no results.

Two City Boys

Creatures of Habit Save Children Again

Two boys who believed they had outgrown the annual Halloween collection for the Save the Children fund found they couldn't break the habit Thursday evening.

Both Rick Saunders, 16, of 1635 Kenmore, and John Kreaker, 14, of 1811 Stanley, decided this year they would help others collect but believed they were a little too big for the job. Both were leading collectors previously.

COLLECTION CAN

At 7 p.m. Rick Saunders phoned Mrs. W. W. McGill, who is in charge of the Save the Children fund, and asked for a collection can. He picked one up at McGill and Orme's Drug Store and by 10:15 had collected $14.16.

John Kreaker managed to confine his activities to helping other collectors but his mother said he had a difficult time doing so.

"It was like holding John in chains," she told Mrs. McGill. In spite of all this he was still able to contribute $4.

Collision Inquest Put Off

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Mae Preston was adjourned yesterday until Jan. 10.

Mrs. Preston was injured in a two-car collision at Trans-Canada Highway and Helmcken at midnight Wednesday, and died in hospital the next day.

The coroner's jury was convened yesterday at Sands funeral chapel in Colwood for viewing of the body, and was adjourned to give witnesses time to recover from injuries suffered in the crash.

57,551 Visit Bureau

There were 57,551 persons who called at the Victoria Visitors Bureau for information between Feb. 1 and Oct. 31, for a monthly average of 6,263.

There were 1,969 callers in October and 5,136 in September. Most callers give any month were in August—19,054—followed by July with 16,051.

Numbers of callers in 1962 were not recorded.

The bureau received 354 requests for direct mail for information in October, including 63 coupons clipped from advertisements. There were 283 direct-mail requests in October, 1962.

Lists forwarded by other agencies raise the number of mail inquiries handled by the bureau in October to 5,180, compared with 3,254 in October of last year.

Stay Inside Aging Told

Aging or infirm war veterans should not attend outdoor Armistice Day ceremonies, Royal Canadian Legion zone commander James Mayzes said yesterday.

His statement followed a letter to columnist Tom Taylor of The Daily Colonist suggesting that older veterans be driven to ceremonies at the Cenotaph Nov. 11.

Even if the veterans were driven to the service, there is no shelter for them once they arrive.

"We have a good reason for feeling this way," he said. "We used to take patients from the Veterans' Hospital, but in the first three years one man dropped dead and two or three caught bronchial pneumonia from standing out in the cold. "For more than 10 years we have been conducting a Remembrance Day service in the chapel at Veterans' Hospital."

Mr. Mayzes said he felt it would be wiser for the older veterans to attend a ceremony at Christ Church Cathedral at 3 p.m. Nov. 10 or one in the Veterans' Hospital at 10:30 a.m. Nov. 11.

"We would appreciate hearing from anyone who wants to come to the hospital," Mr. Mayzes said. "We can accommodate about 20 in addition to the patients and their relatives who attend."

Mr. Mayzes can be reached during the day at EV 4-7134 or at GR 7-1294 in the evening.

'Spy's' Wife

I'll Die Too

TORONTO (UPI)—The wife of one of two Canadians arrested as "spies" in Cuba said Friday she wants to fly to Havana to be with her husband.

Mrs. Helene Milne, who had lived in Montreal with her three-year-old daughter, said she would be willing to seek an interview with Premier Fidel Castro to plead for her husband's life.

"If Willie dies, I'll die too," she said.

Castro announced the arrests of William Milne, 34, and Ronald Lippert, 31, of Kitchener, Ont., during a television broadcast earlier this week. He accused the Canadians, and five U.S. citizens, of smuggling explosives into the country.

Milne and Lippert flew to Havana in a plane owned by Continental Enterprises of Aurora, Ont., a firm that had been involved in a business deal to fly relief packages to Cuba.

"My husband loves the Cuban people," she said. "He used to spend about $25 to $30 a week of his own money to provide drugs for Cuban acquaintances who couldn't obtain them there."

Mrs. Milne added: "My husband wouldn't do anything like they've accused him of. Once he refused $500,000 to fly something out of the country." She did not elaborate.

External affairs department officials said they were not opposed to Mrs. Milne flying to Cuba to plead for her husband's life, but they cautioned her not to take premature action.

Meanwhile, the wife of the second man, Mrs. Gloria Lippert, who works at a dry cleaning plant in Kitchener, says she thought something like this might happen. She described her husband as a reckless type, who lived only for flying.

She said she believed her husband had gone through a form of marriage with a Cuban girl, now living in Miami.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space vehicle Friday which it said was capable of performing complicated manoeuvres on command from the earth. 'Quite a Stir' Likely

Volcanos Erupt on Moon

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—The Lowell Observatory announced Thursday three apparent eruptions—possibly volcanic—were observed this week on the surface of the moon. Two selenographers—people who study the moon—working at the observatory saw the reddish-colored disturbances on the usually colorless moon's surface. Dr. John Hall, Lowell director, said the report "will probably create quite a stir in the scientific community."

The apparent eruptions were observed over a period of 20 minutes Tuesday night by James Greenacre and Edward Barr through a 24-inch refracting telescope.

They were, Greenacre and Barr say, "all light ruby red in color." Each was approximately two miles in diameter.

SUICIDES END RULE

SAIGON (AP)—Suicides of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Nhu Friday climaxed a bloody military uprising which toppled the regime.

The deposed president and his powerful brother and chief of secret police were reported to have taken their own lives in an armored car carrying them to jail after their arrest by rebel military authorities, a diplomatic source said.

There was no official confirmation of the report. The report did not specify what means Diem and Nhu used to kill themselves.

Only the Vietnamese press was allowed to photograph the bodies.

In Washington, state department officials said they had received a terse dispatch from the U.S. embassy in Saigon quoting Saigon radio as saying Diem and Nhu had committed suicide.

PAIR ESCAPES

State department officials said the dispatch said Diem and Nhu escaped after being taken into custody at the presidential palace and fled to a church where they took asylum.

The two brothers were recaptured and subsequently committed suicide, Saigon radio reported. Earlier, Diem and Nhu had hoisted a white flag on the ruins of the presidential palace and surrendered to rebellious military chiefs.

NEW GOVERNMENT

A new Vietnamese government was installed. The top men, both military and civilian, on the new ruling team are Buddhists and described as devoted to war against Viet Nam's Communist Viet Cong.

AT ODDS WITH U.S.

The Ngo Dinh family had been accused of oppressive measures against Buddhists and was at odds with the United States on this question at the height of the U.S.-supported Vietnamese battles against the Communists.

The end of power came for South Viet Nam's autocratic ruling family after a day and night siege on the stucco presidential palace in the downtown section of this Vietnamese capital, climaxed by a 30-minute dawn attack by tanks and artillery.

HEAVY TOLL

Gen. Duong Van Minh—a Buddhist long at odds with the Roman Catholic Diem—led the violent coup which Americans here said took a heavy toll of Vietnamese lives.

Named as provisional premier was a civilian, former vice-president Nguyen Ngoc Tho, who has been leading the government's campaign to conciliate enraged Buddhists.

HURT RELATIONS

Much of the Ngo Dinh family's unpopularity at home and abroad has arisen from its treatment of Vietnamese Buddhists, and this conflict had embittered relations with the United States.

U.S. officials took the view that the coup was engineered by military men primarily interested in stepping up the campaign against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

PERSECUTION

Their first tentative analysis attached less attention to the conflicts with Buddhists, who claimed Diem's regime persecuted them.

The United States put pressure on Diem for reforms to broaden popular support for Uprising 'Shame' For U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu said yesterday that "if the news from the press is true" about a reported military coup in South Viet Nam "it would be a great shame for many Americans."

An aide said Mme. Nhu, reacting here after a cross country speaking tour, had not been told of her husband's death.

"Indeed, we all know that many Americans had waited for this for a long time," she said. Thursday Mme. Nhu, secretly underwent plastic surgery to remove eye wrinkles. The Santa Monica Evening Outlook said.

Another source said, however, the surgery was to remove a cyst from an eyelid. The outlook said the 38-year-old first lady of South Viet Nam entered Beverly Hills Doctors Hospital at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, using the name Mrs. J. Smith.

The paper said Mme. Nhu, wearing dark glasses, was photographed as she emerged from the hospital at 12:35 a.m. Friday.

SIU Papers Seized Banks Disappears

What's Up, Doc?

LONDON (UPI)—An English woman developed "carrot addiction" during pregnancy last year and now eats four to five pounds of carrots a day, the British Medical Journal said yesterday.

Foul Fowl Foils Minds of Men

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP)—A bird has talked himself out of college here.

Hofstra University officials don't like to be cursed at. So the cussing myna was heaved off the campus.

Dr. Robert Gossett, assistant professor of psychology, started several months ago to study whether there is any relationship between the ways that human babies and mynas learn the language by mimicking adults.

He taught his myna several words, and things went well for a time.

Suddenly the bird started swearing—and university officials were among the targets. They ordered the bird removed from the campus.

Gossett investigated and found that some night workmen at the university had been tutoring his bird after hours.

The professor has taken the myna home and started a new and tougher experiment to learn whether a myna can unlearn profanity.

MONTREAL (CP)—The RCMP searched headquarters of the Seafarers' International Union, the homes of SIU President Hal C. Banks and two other union members in Montreal, and union halls in Ontario Friday in a widespread hunt for union documents.

Meanwhile, whereabouts of the SIU leader was unknown. He was reported to have been in New York Thursday.

DOCUMENTS SOUGHT

Montreal lawyer Jean Martineau, a special prosecutor named by the federal government to determine whether there are grounds for criminal proceedings against the SIU, said warrants were issued empowering the RCMP to search for:

1. Documents bearing on an alleged assault against Capt. Frank Walsh, a rival union organizer, in 1957;

2. Documents bearing on the recent SIU work stoppage that tied up most Great Lakes shipping for several days.

Mr. Martineau said the RCMP earlier uncovered evidence leading them to believe such documents would be found in SIU headquarters in Montreal. Continued on Page 3

Jaycees To Fete Guy Fawkes

NANAIMO — President Ron MacLennan of the Junior Chamber of Commerce says the Jaycees passed up Halloween night this year in favor of the traditional Guy Fawkes night, Nov. 5.

The Jaycees plan a giant bonfire on that night to celebrate the unsuccessful attempt of Guy Fawkes to fulfill most men's ambition and blow up the government in power in 1605.

Mr. Fawkes' failure has been a great source of income to England's children ever since.

It is doubtful if there is any truth in the conjecture that this yearly income might have been doubled had he succeeded.

Armistice Ceremony Scheduled

DUNCAN — The annual observance of the Armistice at the Cenotaph here will be preceded Sunday, Nov. 10, with a church parade, at St. Peter's Anglican Church. Rev. Ted Greenhalgh, chaplain of the Cowichan Branch, Royal Canadian Legion will conduct services on both occasions.

The Remembrance Day parade will be under the command of Cowichan branch president Ted Sutton.

In charge of the pipe band will be John Low. Assembling times are: For the church parade, 7:20 p.m. at the church, and for the Cenotaph service 10:45 a.m. at the city parking lot.

Members of the Canadian Scottish and Admiral Malagu Sea Cadets will be guards at Cenotaphs at Chemainus and Lake Cowichan, Nov. 11, where similar parades will be held.

Grant Approved

A provincial order-in-council passed Friday approves a grant of $3,500 to the Comox Valley Kiwanis Village Society of Courtenay toward construction of a home for the aged.

Alberni Income Fifth in Canada

Closure Set For Consulate

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — South Africa's consulate here will close to the public Thursday, a consulate spokesman said. Asked whether the consulate would close completely before Kenya's independence Dec. 12, the spokesman replied: "That is a reasonable possibility."

Iowa Convicts Stage Strike

ANAMOSA, Iowa (UPI) — Hundreds of prisoners staged a sit-down strike at the Iowa men's reformatory Thursday and fire broke out at the prison's tailor shop at the height of the demonstration.

Authorities said the prisoners rebelled against revised work rules in the reformatory's machine shops.

Teenager Found in Refrigerator

DUNCAN — Police here are investigating the circumstances under which 17-year-old Linda Nora Tommy died suddenly at her Mission Road home on the Kwikwaka'nam Indian Reserve.

She was the daughter of Mrs. Clara Charlie and was a member of the Cowichan Indian Band.

Mrs. Charlie was visiting at Seattle at the time. The girl was found dead in a refrigerator by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Floyd Tommy, at 9:50 a.m. Friday. Coroner Dr. J. S. Goodbrand said an autopsy will be held.

DUNCAN — The North Saanich 4-H Goat Club will hold its achievement night, tonight at 7:30 in the farmers' pavilion of the Saanichton Experimental Farm.

UCLELET — The Uclelet branch of the Army, Navy and Airforce Veterans Association will hold its annual Armistice banquet next Saturday in the Recreation Hall. The group, and the WA, will stage the annual church parade Nov. 11.

ALBERNI — Two men were fined in Alberni court Thursday for impaired driving.

Magistrate W. W. MacLeod assessed Conrad Laric Lloyd, Beaver Creek Road, $100 with $6.50 costs. The accused was convicted after pleading not guilty.

Balwant Singh Narac, 501 7th Ave. North, Port Alberni, was fined $125 and costs.

NANAIMO — "Goodbye," was said to RCMP Cpl. Ray James and Mrs. James at a party this week in the Tally-Ho.

Fellow officers, the legal profession and businessmen of Nanaimo gathered to say farewell to the popular couple. Cpl. James has been transferred to Duncan.

Staff Sgt. Slater presented farewell gifts and Mayor Pete Maffeo said tribute to the pair in a brief speech.

Cpl. John Urquhart emceed the proceedings.

PORT ALBERNI — Charles Joseph Bonfield, a resident of the Alberni Valley for 21 years, died suddenly on Tuesday at his home at 410 Eleventh Ave. South.

Mr. Bonfield, an employee of Woodward's store here, was born in Hartney, Manitoba, 58 years ago. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus.

He leaves his wife and a son, Barry, at home; another son,

Drew, in Ottawa; two daughters, Shirley and Beverly, both at home; a sister, Mrs. Harry Gray, White Rock, and a brother, Gerald, in Port Alberni.

DUNCAN — The new president of the Duncan Kiwanis club is Muriel Robertson.

The slate of the club's new officers consists of Ray Thom, first vice-president; Bill Burak, second vice-president; Bob Corney, treasurer.

Yule Cheer Groups Join At Nanaimo

NANAIMO — Organizations here are combining in the Christmas Cheer toy drive for needy families.

Groups throughout the area are joining with boy scouts, the Salvation Army, PTA's, Guides and students in rounding up repairable toys.

Kiwanis vice-president Doug Skilling announced that collection depots will be at Shell gas stations throughout the district.

Gib Stevens heads the Salvation Army committee and an organization meeting will be held at the Citadel Nov. 6.

COURTENAY — School trustees have approved Nov. 8 for a holiday of all District 71 schools to fulfill a declaration made by Lieutenant - Governor Pearkes during a recent visit.

NANAIMO — Executive of Branch No. 10, the Royal Canadian Legion, Wallace Street, will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, Nov. 7.

COURTENAY — Late returns Thursday showed United Appeal was 80 per cent of the way to its target of $28,161.

Organizers reported $22,500 had been collected in cash and pledges.

Canvassing is continuing and no cut-off date will be set until the final goal is in sight. Wolf Lake Logging Ltd. is the latest industrial winner of a 100 per cent canvass pennant.

NANAIMO — Royal Canadian Legion is appealing for a lightweight wheelchair for one of its members. Anyone who has one available or knows of one is asked to phone Dick Winkelman at SK 4-7838.

COURTENAY — RCMP Const. Russ Evans has been awarded a 20-year, long service medal in one of the first ceremonies of its kind here.

Inspector G. M. Mackay, Officer Commanding Victoria sub-division, made the presentation before a formal parade of detachment members.

Public gallery of the court house upper chambers was crowded with relatives and other spectators.

COURTENAY — Max M. reek, Duncan, careless driving. Suter has been re-elected president of IWA Local 1-363 based in Courtenay.

The local's jurisdiction covers the area from south of Courtenay to Sayward and normally has a membership of more than 1,000.

Karl E. Lidberg was named financial secretary.

DUNCAN — Police court: Gene C. Murrell, Ladysmith, careless driving, $22; Walter Siempekkamp, Duncan, driving a motor vehicle with purple gasoline, $50; Raymond C. Car-

Claremont, Victoria Tie Esquimalt Stays 'Alive'

By ROBIN JEFFREY

Esquimalt and Claremont are still alive and kicking in their battle for the last playoff spot in the Colonist Cup high school soccer championship.

A week ago it looked as if another Victoria High-Oak Bay final was certain. But Oak Bay has been on the skids and Esquimalt and Claremont have in the standings going into last night's game. Each club had to win to keep in the running for the last playoff spot.

TOUGH GAME

The rough-and-tumble contest was real "cup-tie" soccer. Both clubs played hard, lustre soccer which saw frequent fouls and one player, Gordie Strongman of Mount Doug, sent off.

Esquimalt's winner came after 20 minutes of the first half when centre-forward Ken Squires took a short pass in front of the Mount Doug goal.

The Mount Douglas players waited for Squires to be whistled off-side, but referee George Steele waved play on and Squires hit the ball into the unguarded Mount Douglas net.

Neither team seriously threatened after this as both clubs contented themselves with aimless mid-field booting.

After the disappointing Esquimalt-Mount Douglas game,

Vic High and Claremont provided the noisy fans with a real treat.

Claremont needed at least a draw to stay in playoff contention but in the first ten minutes Tyee looked like easy winners.

MISSED CHANCES

But Tyees missed a couple of good chances and Claremont recovered from its initial shyness of the Royal Athletic Park lights.

Play flowed from end to end as Vic High used an attractive short-passing game while Claremont hit long balls to its speedy wingers.

With less than a minute to go in the half, Tyee wing-half Mike Graas drew a man at mid-field and pushed a pass to outside-right Dave Evans. Evans cut inside, and drew a man and shoved the ball down the wing to half-back Don Frampton.

FINE GOAL

Frampton broke to the corner flag and blasted a bullet-like cross into the goalmouth. Inside-forward Oscar Waldal timed it perfectly and nodded the ball into the lower right corner for one of the finest goals of the season.

But any Vic High jubilation lasted only through the half-time interval.

At three minutes of the second half Claremont centre-forward Joe Milligan (son of United's Wally) took the ball about 35 yards from the Vic High goal.

HIGH DRIVE

Milligan beat fullback Richie Allen and slipped the ball past centre-half Ron Stubbings before slamming a high, curling drive into the Vic High goal from about 15 yards.

The game ended with Claremont pressing the tired-looking Tyees but both clubs were happy to settle for a draw.

FINE SERVICE

Tyees got fine service from their little winger Evans while Claremont was once again sustained by its three backs: Tony Quinn, Russ Ball and Darrell Cairns.

Monday's Esquimalt-Oak Bay clash begins at 3:45 p.m. at Oak Bay High School.

Colonist Cup is slated for Friday, Nov. 8.

Some Days You Worry

By JIM TAYLOR

You say you'd like to be a sports promoter? Step closer, friend, and consider a day in the life of Neil Sprinkling.

Sprinkling is creator, manager and chief worrier for Haida Chiefs, a senior basketball team not nearly as renowned as he would prefer. So Sprinkling booked his club against the touring Harlem Stars last night and tonight at Central Junior High School, figuring that fans drawn for comedy might come back in future weeks to see Chiefs play for real.

He got his fans all right — 100 to be exact — but he didn't get the Stars, at least not until 10:24 p.m. for a game supposed to start at 9.

Small enough to be seriously hurt if he ever fell off a centre, Sprinkling makes up for it with a set of nerves better tailored for the Jolly Green Giant. Before the night was over, he was no longer a rookie in the ulcer league.

It went something like this:
8 p.m. — Stars haven't phoned. Sprinkling frets.
8:45 — Chiefs warm up for first of approximately five times. Still no Stars. Sprinkling goes through fourth cigarette.

9:05 — Fans look expectant. Chiefs look impatient. Sprinkling looks sick.

9:25 — Stars arrive — two of them. Inform Sprinkling club missed 6:30 ferry at Mission. Had to charter plane, which only carries three at a time. Second load on way.

9:40 — Chiefs are tired of warming up, so assistant-coach Elmer Curtis and scorekeeper Frank Viggers go out and shoot a few. They are very bad.

9:45 — Two Stars on hand lean tiredly against gym wall, half-heartedly pushing Harlem Stars programs. Fans strangely silent. Too quiet for Sprinkling, who thinks about lynch mobs.

10 — Sprinkling decides to refund ticket money. Swears he will never look a basketball in the seams again.

10:05 — Rest of Stars arrive — three of them. Sprinkling looks apoplectic. Stars look bored. No apology offered.

10:15 — Stars warm up. Noise awakens fans.

10:15 — Game starts. No time for comedy. Stars play it straight all the way. Chiefs win, 77-61.

11:15 — Fans go home. Sprinkling smokes 10th cigarette. Stars coach Boyd Bull promises full team for Saturday night game, plus all comedy routines. Says delay unavoidable, hopes Sprinkling understands.

11:30 — Sprinkling reminds press game starts at 8 p.m., this time for sure. Hopes fans will be understanding, give club second chance.

11:35 — Take for the night: about $100. Stars get 60 per cent, which probably won't pay charter fee. Chiefs get 40 per cent, which won't pay expenses.

Some days everything comes up losers.

been on the move. And that move reached its peak at Royal Athletic Park last night as Esquimalt nipped Mount Douglas 1-0, and Claremont fought to a well-earned 1-1 draw with Vic High.

More than 700 fans, largest crowd of the season, screamed in appreciation.

KEY GAME

Claremont has completed its schedule with 11 points from 10 games. Oak Bay has 11 points and Esquimalt nine, and Dockers tie with the Bays on Monday. A win for Esquimalt would produce a three-way tie for second place — the last playoff spot. Vic High has already clinched the league title.

Esquimalt and Mount Douglas, each with a game left, were tied with seven points

Court on Scholarships:

Athletes Work for School

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gary Van Horn once told his father that he had been offered "a pretty good deal" to play football at California Polytechnic at San Luis Obispo.

Then, three years ago, the plane bringing the Cal Poly team home from a game crashed in a fog at Toledo, Ohio. Van Horn was one of 17 players who died in the flaming wreckage.

Van Horn got has been interpreted this way: Van Horn was an employee of the school.

The decision was made by the California Appeal Court and upheld by the State Supreme Court.

The decision has sent the legal experts at many schools delving into the nature of the institutions' athletic scholarships.

It means that the state will have to pay Van Horn's widow and her two children death benefits, just as if he had been a bricklayer killed on the job. She is asking $21,500.

It means that where courts interpret athletic scholarships in the same manner—United States college football players can be considered employees under the meaning of workmen's compensation. A sprained ankle, for instance, could entitle a halfback to unemployment benefits.

As part of his scholarship Van Horn was paid for his widow subsequently was paid a total of $245. His conversation with his father about the "good deal" was admitted to evidence as part of Mrs. Van Horn's case that her husband was an employee.

About 3,000,000 applications are expected by December, when the tickets will be sold on a luck of the draw basis, the Japanese Olympic committee said Friday.

Fox to Run Tacoma Club

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Charley Fox, 41, a veteran of the New York-San Francisco Giants' baseball organization, has been selected as field manager of the Tacoma Giants for the 1964 season.

W. D. (Rory) Ryan, the Pacific Coast League club's general manager, announced Fox will succeed Andy Gilbert.

Ticket Draw For Olympiad

TOKYO (AP)—More than 2,500,000 applications have been received for tickets to the opening ceremony of the 1964 Tokyo Olympics. The Olympic committee has 62,500 tickets available.

About 3,000,000 applications are expected by December, when the tickets will be sold on a luck of the draw basis, the Japanese Olympic committee said Friday.

In Football Argument

Walking Beats Talking

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—It was Edmonton's seven-yard-line for Oklahoma City's John Marshall High School early in the fourth quarter of their football game when a brief scuffle broke out among the players.

Referee Winslow Havenstrie paced off 15 yards against

John Marshall and it was first and 22.

At that point, coach Vince Robison of John Marshall ran onto the field to have a few words with Havenstrie.

Havenstrie made it first and 37.

Robison kept arguing. Havenstrie kept walking. Ro-bison walked and talked. Havenstrie just walked.

Marshall resumed the attack on its own seven, first down and 93 yards to go.

Marshall was forced to punt. But it won the game 42-8.

Small Matter of Pride For Bombers and Lions

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The glint of football records and the small matter of pride go on the block this weekend in two Western Football Conference season-ending games.

Both of the games, Edmonton at Calgary Saturday and Winnipeg at British Columbia Sunday, mean nothing so far as the standings are concerned. Motivations for winning these games are found elsewhere.

Football pundits are betting that Sunday afternoon's clash between Lions and Blue Bombers will be the scene-stealer.

By PAUL WESTBROOK

LONDON (CP)—"The Olympic Games are a hypocritical farce."

This was one of the parting shots Gordon Pirie fired at the sports world when he set sail for New Zealand and obscurity two years ago. Now in a pre-Olympic year the old grumbler is back to taunt his enemies.

Pirie quit the amateur track

In Calgary, flanker Bobby Taylor and Pete Manning of Stampedeers will go after a mark of 145 receptions made by two players on one team. So far they've snared 131 passes.

Taylor's 69 is one more than a record established a decade ago by Bud Grant and equalled in 1959 by Winnipeg and Ernie Pitts.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Manitoba champion Bob Hunt of Victoria defeated Manitoba champion Dave Thomson of Winnipeg, 15-9, last night in the first round of the combined Thomas Cup trials and Victoria Invitational badminton tournament.

In one of the other feature matches, Hunt and Ed Hedley stopped fourth-seeded Thomson and Larry Ladyman of Winnipeg, 15-6, 18-16.

School Vote Gets Backing

NANAIMO—Rural representatives for School District 68 are coming out solidly in support of the two referendums to be voted on by Nanaimo and district taxpayers about mid-December.

School referendums 4 and 5 are essential if district 68 is to keep abreast with the annual seven per cent school enrollment increase in the district, representatives of the school board say.

If the referendum were not passed, present bad conditions would worsen. Already overcrowding is reaching the danger point both in class rooms and dining rooms, they say.

FUTURE BLEAK

Without the referendums the future is bleak and swing shifts, overcrowding, sub-standard classrooms and poorly qualified teachers would become the norm.

Trustees say without additional classrooms most schools will have to double up next year and sub-standard areas will have to be used.

WITHOUT DELAY

Trustee J. Wadde Manion, school board buildings and ground committee chairman, said immediate approval is essential, so construction in new projects can begin without delay.

He also said qualified staff are not attracted to overcrowded schools and would be difficult to get unless conditions improve immediately.

The two referendums entail expenditures of $819,000.

LAND PURCHASES

Future plans under the referendum include the sum of $83,000 to cover the estimated cost of purchasing six parcels of land totalling about 35 acres in various districts.

Fairview School expansion would cost $10,000 and a further $5,000 each is provided for purchasing elementary sites in Cedar, and Dufferin Crescent. About $4,000 is slated for an elementary school on Hammond Bay Road.

THREE-ROOM SCHOOLS
New schools to be built are at Hammond Bay, Rock City and Forest Park. These will be three-room schools at a cost of $2,000 each.

Mr. Manion said the referendum, if passed, would increase the mill rate about four-tenths of a mill or $2 per year per taxpayer.

Seat Belt Total Near 2,500

Members of the Victoria Lions Club are hoping to instal their 2,500th seat belt Saturday.

Belts will go on sale Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Mooney's Auto Body Shop, 837 View Street. The cost is $6.25, with installation free.

Arts Student Crowned As Homecoming Queen

First year arts student Joan MacKenzie was crowned Homecoming Queen last night, highlighting a week of Homecoming activities at the University of Victoria.

She was chosen by a board of faculty and students' council members who met the five queen candidates at a tea Thursday.

Miss MacKenzie, who was representing second year arts, is majoring in history and French with the hope of being able to enter the diplomatic service when she graduates.

Her princesses are Jan Laidlaw, representing second year education, and Eileen Jacobson, representing upper arts.

Centennial Square Launched Monday

By IAN STREET

... board's choice

City council yesterday authorized calling of tenders Monday for renovation of the 85-year-old city hall and construction of a new administrative wing, thus launching the first phase of the $2,000,000 Centennial Square project.

When tenders are returned at the end of the month, it is expected the price of the job will be confirmed at about $375,000. Construction will begin by the end of the year.

Ald. Millard Mooney, alone of the members of council who attended the meeting, did not vote on the resolution authorizing the tender call. It was passed 8 to 0.

Earlier, apparently in hopes of winning a unanimous endorsement for the start of construction, Mayor R. B. Wilson ordered that answers to the 12 questions concerning the project submitted in writing by Ald. Mooney at the last council meeting be read out.

No Debate Allowed

After hearing city manager Dennis Young's written report providing the answers, Ald. Mooney said he would still like to see further consideration given to replacing the city hall with a new building instead of renovating and adding to it.

There was no debate since the city's procedure bylaw, under which formal questions of this kind are submitted and answered in council, does not permit discussion or rebuttal at this time.

At the start of the special meeting, council went into committee to hear an explanation of the working plans for new city hall accommodation.

No serious objections were raised and aldermen quickly dealt with two principal points raised by the Centennial Square planning committee.

They decided to accept the suggested arrangement for council members' private office accommodation.

Aldermen Agreed

The consulting architects suggested this be submitted to council at a later date. Aldermen agreed.

Report dealing with Ald. Mooney's questions said the 85-year-old city hall would be "a permanent structure capable of serving the city for as long as it is felt necessary," costing approximately half as much as a new building.

The third floor of the building has never been condemned, the report added, and renovations will comply with the National Building Code and all city bylaws.

Cost of replacement of all the "limited" areas in which dry rot has been found is included in the estimates for renovation.

The report agreed with Ald. ent.

Mooney's claim that several previous councils had gone on record as favoring location of a new city hall elsewhere in the city.

But Mr. Young pointed out this would have lost the historical associations, the economic advantage of renovation as opposed to new construction and the value of having the civic offices as an integral part of Centennial Square.

Adult Centre Plan Sent to Peterson

School trustees of Greater Victoria have completed a brief and trustees were disconcerted recently when they learned the department had a similar plan, but for a general vocation program. The trustees wanted an adult education centre with a more localized vocational program.

The board was assisted by 75 local businessmen, all in favor of the trustees' plan.

Flames Cost $2,000

A $2,000 fire yesterday gutted the bedroom of a house at 877 Tillamook Road and caused extensive smoke damage throughout the rest of the house, Esquimalt police say.

No one was home when the fire broke out shortly after 9 a.m. The house is occupied by Mrs. Isabelle Colby and her two children.

Esquimalt firemen had the blaze under control within minutes after they arrived, but it was some time before the smoke cleared and they were able to determine no one had been in the house.

Huge Log Jam Poses Threat To Park Bridge

ERRINGTON — A huge log jam, a few yards upstream from the bridge which spans Englishman River at the Upper Falls, is causing park officials some concern here. It was caused by rapidly-rising water.

Charles Darkis, supervisor of provincial parks on Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands, said here a close watch is being kept on the pile up of debris and logs which have washed down from logging operations upstream.

NO IMMEDIATE DANGER

It is hoped predicted heavy rains and the spring run-off of snow from the mountains will dissipate the logs, and there does not appear to be any immediate danger to the bridge.

If however, the jam still per-

Hospital Staff Asks Boosts

NANAIMO — Wage and salary negotiations affecting Nanaimo Regional Hospital employees will take place this month.

In Nanaimo Nov. 25 and 26, representatives of hospital employees will meet representatives of hospitals of Nanaimo, Duncan, Ladysmith, Port Alberni and Campbell River.

Employees are asking a general nine per cent increase in wages.

At Lions Gate Hospital, West Vancouver, Nov. 14 and 15, contract negotiations will open for hospital engineers, members of the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Nov. 7 and 8, the B.C. Nurses Association with about 75 Nanaimo members will be negotiating for a six per cent increase for graduate nurses.

Ald. John Cook, city representative on the regional hospital board and administrator Gordon Frith will be representing Nanaimo at the negotiations.

Gabriola Ferry Fares Cut

Gabriola Island ferry fares have been cut by the government.

The new rate is 50 cents for each nine feet of car length, down from 60 cents, and the rate for commuters has been cut from $4.50 to 10 tickets to 10 tickets for $5.

Single passenger fares remain the same at 20 cents each way but tickets for commuting passengers are reduced from 10 for $1.50 to 15 for $2. The new rate schedule goes into effect Dec. 1.

Nanaimo Permits

More for Homes Less for Firms

NANAIMO—Ben Boers, city building inspector, reports an increase in dwelling permits and a decrease in commercial permits for October.

The year's figures so far show a decrease from 1962. Total to the end of October, 1962, was $1,632,407 and total to the end of last month was $1,325,736, a drop of $306,671.

The 34 permits issued this year covered 92 dwelling units.

The Canadian Pacific Bowling Club rooms have been opened for the winter season. The rooms, in the rear of Crystal Garden, are open from 1:30 to 5 p.m. each day.

Salo Family Rites Today

NANAIMO (CP)—A triple funeral will be held here today for the members of the Salo family who died in a murder-suicide Tuesday.

Erling Waldemar Salo, 40, his son Roy Erling, 12, and daughter Glenda, 5, will be buried at the same time.

All had been residents of Nanaimo for nine years. Glenda was born here, Roy was born in Oslo, Norway.

'Spy's' Wife

I'll Die Too

TORONTO (UPI)—The wife of one of two Canadians arrested as "spies" in Cuba said Friday she wants to fly to Havana to be with her husband.

Mrs. Helene Milne, who had lived in Montreal with her three-year-old daughter, said she would be willing to seek an interview with Premier Fidel Castro to plead for her husband's life.

"If Willie dies, I'll die too," she said.

Castro announced the arrest of William Milne, 34, and Ronald Lippert, 31, of Kitchener, Ont., during a television broadcast earlier this week. He accused the Canadians, and five U.S. citizens, of smuggling explosives into the country.

Milne and Lippert flew to Havana in a plane owned by Continental Enterprises of Aurora, Ont., a firm that had been involved in a business deal to fly relief packages to Cuba.

"My husband loves the Cuban people," she said. "He used to spend about $25 to $30 a week of his own money to provide drugs for Cuban acquaintances who couldn't obtain them there."

Mrs. Milne added: "My husband wouldn't do anything like they've accused him of. Once he refused $500,000 to fly something out of the country." She did not elaborate.

External affairs department officials said they were not opposed to Mrs. Milne flying to Cuba to plead for her husband's life, but they cautioned her not to take premature action.

Meanwhile, the wife of the second man, Mrs. Gloria Lippert, who works at a dry cleaning plant in Kitchener, says she thought something like this might happen. She described her husband as a reckless type, who lived only for flying.

She said she believed her husband had gone through a form of marriage with a Cuban girl, now living in Miami.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space vehicle Friday which it said was capable of performing complicated manoeuvres on command from the earth. A few hours later Premier Khrushchev commented he would look with more warmth on the idea of U.S.-Soviet space co-operation if international tensions eased.

Khrushchev strolled up to a microphone at a reception for Premier Souvanna Phouma of Laos and reported on the latest orbiting of a space craft, described by the Soviets as containing control mechanisms so that it can be manoeuvred for a linkup in space with another such craft to provide a launching pad for a further shot at another planet or the moon.

"It was with considerable interest that we studied President Kennedy's proposals for a joint project in manned flight to the moon," the premier commented after making his announcement.

"We would have nothing against Russia and America joining in such a project."

Then he grinned and added: "Still better, a Russian man and an American woman."

"If we could agree on a further easing of tensions and not just in moral but in concrete terms, such as disarmament, then this would give greater means — and international means — for the growth of science."

'Quite a Stir' Likely

Volcanos Erupt on Moon

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—The Lowell Observatory announced Thursday three apparent eruptions—possibly volcanic—were observed this week on the surface of the moon. Two selenographers—people who study the moon—working at the observatory saw the reddish-colored disturbances on the usually colorless moon's surface. Dr. John Hall, Lowell director, said the report "will probably create quite a stir in the scientific community."

The apparent eruptions were observed over a period of 20 minutes Tuesday night by James Greenacre and Edward Barr through a 24-inch refracting telescope.

They were, Greenacre and Barr say, "all light ruby red in color." Each was approximately two miles in diameter.

BROTHERS' SUICIDES CLIMAX REBELLION

SAIGON (AP)—Suicides of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and his brother Nhu Friday climaxed a bloody military uprising which toppled the regime.

The deposed president and his powerful brother and chief of secret police were reported to have taken their own lives in an armored car carrying them to jail after their arrest by rebel military authorities, a diplomatic source said.

There was no official confirmation of the report. The report did not specify what means Diem and Nhu used to kill themselves.

Only the Vietnamese press was allowed to photograph the suicides.

In Washington, state department officials said they had received a terse dispatch from the U.S. embassy in Saigon quoting Saigon radio as saying Diem and Nhu had committed suicide.

PAIR ESCAPES

State department officials said the dispatch said Diem and Nhu escaped after being taken into custody at the presidential palace and fled to a church where they took asylum.

The two brothers were recaptured and subsequently committed suicide, Saigon radio reported.

NEW GOVERNMENT

A new Vietnamese government was installed. The top men, both military and civilian, on the new ruling team are Buddhists and described as devoted to war against Viet Nam's Communist Viet Cong.

AT ODDS WITH U.S.

The Ngo Dinh family had been accused of oppressive measures against Buddhists and was at odds with the United States on this question at the height of the U.S.-supported Vietnamese battles against the Communists.

The end of power came for South Viet Nam's autocratic ruling family after a day and night siege on the stucco presidential palace in the downtown section of this Vietnamese capital, climaxed by a 90-minute dawn attack by tanks and artillery.

HEAVY TOLL

Gen. Duong Van Minh—a Buddhist long at odds with the Roman Catholic Diem—led the violent coup which Americans here said took a heavy toll of Vietnamese lives.

Named as provisional premier was a civilian, former vice-president, Nguyen Ngoc Tho, who has been leading the government's campaign to conciliate enraged Buddhists.

HURT RELATIONS

Much of the Ngo Dinh family's unpopularity at home and abroad has arisen from its treatment of Vietnamese Buddhists, and this conflict had embittered relations with the United States.

U.S. officials took the view that the coup was engineered by military men primarily interested in stepping up the campaign against Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

PERSECUTION

Their first tentative analysis attached less attention to the conflicts with Buddhists, who claimed Diem's regime persecuted them.

The United States put pressure on Diem for reforms to broaden popular support for Uprising 'Shame' For U.S.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu said yesterday that "if the news from the press is true" about a reported military coup in South Viet Nam "it would be a great shame for many Americans."

An aide said Mrs. Nhu, resting here after a cross country speaking tour, had not been told of her husband's death.

"Indeed, we all know that many Americans had waited for this for a long time," she said.

Thursday Mrs. Nhu secretly underwent plastic surgery to remove eye wrinkles. The Santa Monica Evening Outlook said.

Another source said, however, the surgery was to remove a cyst from an eyelid.

The Outlook said the 38-year-old first lady of South Viet Nam entered Beverly Hills Doctors Hospital at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, using the name Mrs. J. Smith.

The paper said Mrs. Nhu, wearing dark glasses, was photographed as she emerged from the hospital at 12:35 a.m. Friday.

What's Up, Doc?

LONDON (UPI)—An English woman developed "carrot addiction" during pregnancy last year and now eats four to five pounds of carrots a day, the British Medical Journal said yesterday.

Foul Fowl Foils Minds of Men

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP)—A bird has talked himself out of college here.

Hofstra University officials don't like to be cursed at. So the cussing myna was heaved off the campus.

Dr. Robert Gossett, assistant professor of psychology, started several months ago to study whether there is any relationship between the ways that human babies and mynas learn the language by mimicking adults.

He taught his myna several words, and things went well for a time.

Suddenly the bird started swearing—and university officials were among the targets. They ordered the bird removed from the campus.

Gossett investigated and found that some night workmen at the university had been tutoring his bird after hours.

The professor has taken the myna home and started a new and tougher experiment—to learn whether a myna can unlearn profanity.

MONTREAL (CP)—The RCMP searched headquarters of the Seafarers' International Union, the homes of SIU President Hal C. Banks and two other union members in Montreal, and union halls in Ontario Friday in a widespread hunt for union documents.

Meanwhile, whereabouts of the SIU leader was unknown. He was reported to have been in New York Thursday.

DOCUMENTS BOUGHT

Montreal lawyer Jean Martineau, a special prosecutor named by the federal government to determine whether there are grounds for criminal proceedings against the SIU, said warrants were issued empowering the RCMP to search for:

1. Documents bearing on an alleged assault against Capt. Frank Walsh, a rival union organizer, in 1957.

2. Documents bearing on the recent SIU work stoppage that tied up most Great Lakes shipping for several days.

Mr. Martineau said the RCMP earlier uncovered evidence leading them to believe such documents would be found in SIU headquarters in Montreal.
